

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. EDITORIAL NOTE.

The 1903 volume of the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL is a comprehensive review of the art interests of the United States for the past three years. Two annual issues have been omitted owing to the fact that the editor was occupied in the Department of Fine Arts at the Pan-American Exposition during 1901, and that it was deemed wiser not to undertake this publication until it should have its own headquarters. It is now firmly established and will be published regularly in the autumn of each year.

In the spring of 1903 the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York for the purpose of publishing books and periodicals, of acting as art agents, appraisers, etc. We are anxious to assist in the general advancement of art matters and trust that the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL, which is a help and guide to those who are working along art lines, will receive adequate support. We appeal to each and every individual and society to become subscribers to the publication. See that it is on the reference shelves of your public library, on the table at your art club; in fact, at hand whenever you need it.

Every effort has been made to bring the records up to date and to maintain as high a standard of accuracy as possible. Letters requesting information were sent to the secretaries of the various art societies and to individual artists in May, and all matter is condensed and quoted from the printed reports and other information received.

The history and foundation of the older societies is recorded in previous editions of the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL; those founded since October, 1900, are given special prominence, as this volume aims to give the principal events from October, 1900, to October, 1903.

One of the new features is a change in the arrangement of the section devoted to sales of paintings. The selected list of those sold for $5,000 and over should prove of interest. The important sales of 1900-1903 are grouped by artists, arranged alphabetically, each sale, however, being given separately. The less important sales are made into one alphabetical arrangement according to artists (see page 69), with the name of the sale in parentheses. Occasional notes have been made showing the price brought by a particular picture at a previous sale. In this connection we would call attention to the fact that records of important sales since the Mary Morgan sale of March, 1887, are on file at the office of the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL, and information regarding any special picture will be furnished on payment of a small fee.

An entirely new department is that of the sales of prints. This is something of an experiment and will only be continued if it proves of interest to a sufficiently large class. Those who wish this department retained are requested to communicate with the Editor.

The list of some important buildings erected has been confined to structures completed during 1900-1903. The Editor feels that the list is very incomplete, but this beginning may lead to better reports in future volumes, particularly if the local art societies will furnish the necessary data.

In the directories (Part II) a new section is that of lecturers and writers; here also will be found the directory of dealers, to which a list of restorers of paintings has been added.

Among the encouraging features of the art conditions of this country is the formation of State art societies. The first one was established in Utah in March, 1899, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) being appropriated annually to assist in paying expenses. A copy of the law creating the "Utah Art Institute" may be obtained from the Secretary, Mrs. Edna W. Sloan, 180 G Street, Salt Lake City, Utah. The second State to establish an art society was Minnesota, in 1903, where the annual appropriation is two thousand dollars ($2,000).

The establishment of Municipal Art Commissions in many cities will help to raise the standard of municipal art. Many of them have been modeled on that of New York. Extracts from the charter defining the powers of the art commission and the method of its appointments have been issued by the Fine Arts Federation of New York, and copies may be obtained by addressing the secretary at 215 West 57th Street.

Another interesting feature is the broadening of the usefulness of the art libraries. At the Museum for the Arts of Decoration, Cooper Union, New York, a table in each room contains books referring to the exhibits; the same plan is followed at the Museum of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences. Some of the art sections of the women's clubs have circulating libraries of pictures, lantern slides, books and bound magazine articles. The Carnegie Institute of Pittsburg has had its most important paintings photographed and complete sets of the reproductions have been placed in the schools, thus taking the treasures of art to the people.

In the schools a new feature consists of the mural decorations, such as those at Hull House, Chicago, and the John Sartain High School, of Philadelphia, where the beauty of the color and composition becomes part of the daily lives of the children. The placing of reproductions of famous paintings and sculpture has been continued until there is hardly a school in the entire country that cannot boast of at least a few penny pictures.

To the members of the Advisory Committee, the secretaries of the various art societies and others who have in many ways assisted in preparing this volume, the Editor hereby tenders her best thanks.

It is earnestly requested that all printed reports, catalogues, etc., be forwarded promptly as soon as issued, and the Editor will greatly appreciate any suggestions tending to increase the usefulness of the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL.

OBITUARIES OCTOBER, 1900, TO OCTOBER, 1903.

- ANDERSON, ANDREAS.—A painter; born at Bergen, Norway, in 1869 and brought to this country by his parents in 1873; died in Boston, February 1, 1903. His childhood was spent in Newport, R. I., and in 1889 he went to Boston and studied at the Cowles Art School. In 1891 he won the Longfellow Traveling Scholarship, which sent him to Paris for three years, where he was a pupil of the Julian Academy under Benjamin-Constant and Laurens. In 1894 he returned to Boston and taught there and painted portraits.
- BACON, JULIA.—A painter; born in Boston, Mass.; died in 1901. Pupil of E. C. Tarbell of that city. Member of the Boston Art Students' Association in 1894.
- BANNISTER, EDWARD M.—A landscape and cattle painter, born at St. Andrews, New Brunswick, 1833; died January 9, 1901. He was one of the best known negro painters, though more familiar to the last generation than to this. Was a pupil of the Lowell Institute in Boston, and received a first class medal at the Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia, 1876. The last twenty-five years of his life were spent at Providence, R. I.
- BANNISTER, JAMES.—An expert engraver; died at his home in Brooklyn October 11, 1901, in the eightieth year of his age. He was a native of England and came to this country in early life. One of the founders of the Franklin Bank Note Engraving Company, and one of its officers until within a few years of his death. He was also a student of astronomy and the natural sciences.
- BATTERSON, JAMES G.—The constructor of the Worth Monument, New York; born at Bloomfield, Conn., February 23, 1823; died at Hartford, Conn., September 18, 1901. He passed several years in Egypt, was an acknowledged authority on Egyptology, and became honorary secretary of the Egyptian Exploration Fund. While in Europe he studied art, also wrote poetry, and received the degree of M. A. from both Yale and Williams. He was president of the New England Granite Works, and the founder of the Travelers Insurance Company. In addition to the Worth Monument, in 1857, he constructed the National Monument at Gettysburg; the statue of Alexander Hamilton in Central Park, New York; the Thayer Monument at West Point, N. Y.; the Antietam Monument; the Texas Revolutionary Monument in Galveston; the Halleck Monument at San Francisco; the Masonic Temple in New York city; the State Capitol at Hartford, and the Congressional Library at Washington.
- BEER, WILLIAM, JR.—An architect; born in New York, January 10, 1851; died at his home at Bayonne, N. J., August 22, 1901.
- BESSEY, MARTHA DAVIS.—A designer for twenty-two years with Tiffany & Co.; died in New York, January 16, 1901. She was a direct descendant of Roger Wolcott, Colonial Governor of Connecticut, and was born and brought up in New York city. Her artistic talent was developed along many branches of art work and she was specially proficient in flower painting, heraldic work, illuminating and the designing of badges and medals. She won the prize offered by the Board of Lady Managers of the Chicago World's Fair, 1893, for the best design by a woman for a badge to be worn by members of the board.
- BIERSTADT, ALBERT, A. N. A.—A landscape painter; born near Düsseldorf, Germany, January 7, 1830; died at his home in New York city, February 18, 1902. When one year old he was taken to New Bedford, Mass., where his youth was spent. At twenty-four he returned to his native town in Germany, and studied art for some years under Lessing, afterward going to Rome. He returned to the United States in 1859, but made frequent trips to Europe, spending much time at Venice and in Switzerland. In a tour through the western part of the United States he gathered material for some of his most important pictures. "Settlement of California by the Spanish Priest, Father Junipero Serra" and "The Discovery of the Hudson River" are in the Capitol at Washington; "View on the Kern River" and "Sunset Among the Sierra Nevada Mountains" at the Hermitage, St. Petersburg; "Great Trees of California" in the Imperial Palace, Berlin; "Estes Park" is owned by the Earl of Dunraven; "Valley of the Yosemite," in Lenox Collection, New York Public Library; "Laramie Peak," in the Academy of Fine Arts, Buffalo; and "A Mountain Peak," in the Corcoran Gallery at Washington, are among some of his best known works. He was elected an associate of the National Academy of Design in 1860 and was a member of the Boston Art Club, National Institute of Arts and Letters, the Century Association, the American Geographical Society, the Musical Art Society and the Union League Club. Medals were awarded to him in Austria, Germany, Bavaria and Belgium. He was made Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in 1867, received the Order of St. Stanislaus of Russia in 1869, the second class in 1872, and received the Imperial Order of the Medjidî from the Sultan of Turkey in 1886.

BLAKESLEE, WALTER.—A scenic artist, and a graduate of Yale Art School, died at New Haven, Conn., June 15, 1902, in the fiftieth year of his age.

BLOOR, HENRY PRITCHARD.—A designer and constructor of church windows; born in Edinburgh, Scotland; died in Brooklyn, N. Y., April 18, 1902, in the seventy-fifth year of his age. He studied the designing and coloring of windows in Scotland, then came to America and established a decorative glass plant in Brooklyn, which he conducted for forty years.

BLUM, ROBERT FREDERICK, N. A.—A painter; born in Cincinnati, O., July 9, 1857; died at his home in the old Greenwich Village section of New York city on June 8, 1903. He had a public school education, and at the age of sixteen was apprenticed in a lithographic house, where he remained for three years. He devoted his evenings to the study of art, and later entered the McMicken Art School of Design in Cincinnati. In 1879 he settled in New York, and aroused the interest of Mr. Alexander W. Drake, then the art editor of Scribner's Monthly. He made frequent trips to Europe, visiting Madrid, Toledo, Venice and Holland, and in 1890 went to Japan to prepare the illustrations for Sir Edwin Arnold's "Japonica." At the Paris Exposition of 1889 his painting, "The Lacemakers," was awarded a bronze medal, and he also received a silver medal for illustrations; at the Paris Exposition in 1900 he received a bronze medal, and at the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, 1901, a gold medal. He was elected an Associate of the National Academy of Design in 1892, and a full member the following year. He was also a member of the Society of American Artists, the American Water Color Society and the Society of Mural Painters. His most striking work is the mural decoration in Mendelssohn Hall, in New York city. The frieze on the west wall has the composition entitled "Music," while opposite is "A Vintage Festival in Greece." The arch over the stage was yet to be executed. At the time of his death he was engaged with A. B. Wenzel in decorating the New Amsterdam Theatre.

BOGARDUS, JOHN S.—An architect; born at Fishkill-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., December 27, 1828; died at Stamford, Conn., June 14, 1903. As a young man he did work in Yonkers and other towns along the Hudson. He settled in Stamford, Conn., where he planned more business blocks than any other architect.

BOTTICHER, PAUL G.—An architect and builder; died at his home at Newark, N. J., November, 1902, at the age of fifty-nine years. He drew the plans for the Federal Building in Newark, and many other structures in New Jersey.

BOYD, THOMAS, F. A. I. A.—An architect; died at Pittsburg in June, 1902. He designed the Court Houses in Lexington, Georgetown and Nickelsville, Ky., and Beaver, Pa.; the First National Bank, the First U. P. Church, Pittsburg, Pa., etc. He was a Fellow of the A. I. A. and a charter member of the Pittsburg Chapter.

BRADISH, ALVAH.—A portrait painter; born in Sherburne, N. Y., September 4, 1806; died in Detroit, April 20, 1901. Spent the early part of his life in the western part of New York State, but later went to Chicago, St. Paul and Detroit.

BRIGGS, WARREN C.—A landscape painter; born in Brooklyn, N. Y.; died at his home in New York city, January 3, 1903, at the age of thirty-six. He was a pupil of James M. Hart.

BRISCOE, FRANKLIN D.—Painter; born in Baltimore in 1844; died at his home in Philadelphia, August 29, 1903. When sixteen years old he became a pupil of Edward Moran and spent the greater part of his life in Philadelphia. Executed a series of ten paintings of the Battle of Gettysburg, and was also noted for his marine scenes.

BROWN, JOHN APPLETON, A. N. A.—Painter; born Newburyport, Mass., July 24, 1844; died in New York, January 8, 1902. Pupil of B. C. Porter in Boston; Emile Lambinet in Paris. Was awarded a medal at the Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893. He was an associate of the National Academy of Design, a member of the Society of American Artists 1892, and of the New York Water Color Club.

BURKE, CHARLES CHRISTOPHER.—An architect; born in Scotland, May 29, 1815; died at Memphis, Tenn., September 11, 1901. He received his early education at the London University, after which he went to Paris and took a complete course in architecture and civil engineering. Going to New York, he pursued his profession in that city for many years. He then went South, where his practice consisted of engineering work for the planters of Louisiana and Mississippi. In 1859 he settled in Memphis, where he became the city engineer and was county surveyor from 1870 to 1884. From this time on his work was largely architectural, his chief characteristic being massive construction, such as storehouses, and he also designed many churches.

CABOT, EDWARD C., F. A. I. A.—An architect; born in Boston, April, 1818; died in January, 1901. He attended school in Boston and Brookline, Mass., and his first commission was for the Boston Athenæum, won in competition in 1846. He designed the Boston Theatre and the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, in association with Mr. Chandler. He was a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects and was president of the Boston Chapter for thirty-three years, a member of the Boston Art Club and the American Water Color Society.

CARRISS, HENRY T.—A painter; born in Philadelphia in 1850; died in that city, September 18, 1903. He is noted for his figure pictures, and was also a designer of stained glass and other decorative details of architecture. He was at one time the president of the Sketch Club of Philadelphia, and was a member of the Art Club of Philadelphia.

CHAMPNEY, J. WELLS, A. N. A.—A painter; born in Boston, July 16, 1843; died in New York, May 1, 1903, by falling down an elevator shaft. At an early age he started as a wood engraver, and in 1866 went to Paris, where he studied under Edouard Frère. After further studies at the Academy in Antwerp, he returned to the United States and opened a studio in Boston. In 1882 he was elected an Associate of the National Academy of Design, and was a member of the American Water Color Society, the Boston Art Club, a governor of the National Arts Club, a member of the Century Association, the Players, the American Fine Arts Society and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. His early work he signed "Champ," but later gave his full name. He established a reputation as a genre painter of rural scenes, and especially of country home life. Somewhere about 1880 he practically abandoned oils and water colors to devote his entire energies to pastel, in which medium he made many "translations" of noted pictures in foreign galleries.

CHEESEBOROUGH, MARY HUGGER.—A miniature painter of Charleston, S. C.; died at Saratoga, N. Y., July 8, 1902, in the seventy-ninth year of her age.

CLARK, EDWARD, F. A. I. A.—An architect; born in Philadelphia, August 15, 1822; died in Washington, D. C., January 6, 1902. He was educated in the public schools of Philadelphia, and was instructed in engineering by his uncle, Thomas Clark, and in drawing by his father. At an early age he entered the office of Thomas U. Walter, who designed the extension of the United States Capitol. Mr. Clark was made superintendent of the construction of the extension of the Patent Office and General Post Office, when Mr. Walter was placed in charge of these buildings in 1851. Mr. Walter resigned his position as architect of the Capitol in 1865, and Mr. Clark was appointed as his successor. He was continuously employed on the architectural work of the Government for fifty-one years. He was elected a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects in 1888. Possessed of a remarkably retentive memory, a lover of books and music from his childhood, he was a collector of music, and left what was probably the largest private collection in Washington.

CLARK, JONATHAN.—A builder, was born in England and came to this country in 1848, and settled in Chicago; died at his winter home near Fruitland, Cal., February 6, 1902. One of his first buildings, the Academy of Design, was the finest of its kind, and the first erected in Chicago exclusively in the interests of the fine arts.

CLOUGH, GEORGE L.—A landscape painter; born at Auburn, N. Y.; died in that town, February 20, 1901, aged seventy-seven years. The greater part of his life was spent abroad. For seven years he was president of the Art Club of Brooklyn.

COBB, CYRUS.—Sculptor, painter and musician; born at Malden, Mass., August 6, 1834; died at his home in Allston, Mass., January 29, 1903. His twin brother, Darius Cobb, is also noted as a painter. He was a pupil of John A. Jackson. His first work in patriotic sculpture was the Soldiers' Monument on Cambridge Common, and he produced many works of sculpture and painting of a national character, besides directing choruses and lecturing on art. He was a member of the Boston Art Club.

COLLINS, ALFRED QUINTON, A. N. A.—A painter; born in Boston in 1862; died at Cambridge (Mass.) Hospital, July 19, 1903. Going to Paris, he studied with Bonnat, and made a specialty of painting portraits. Among his most noted portraits are those of the Rev. Dr. Rainsford and Hon. John Jay. He became a member of the Society of American Artists in 1889, and was elected an Associate of the National Academy of Design in 1902.

COOK, HARVEY.—An architect; born in England; died at Tucson, Ariz., March 26, 1903, in the thirtieth year of his age. He was a member of the firm of Harvey & Bunce, of Paterson, N. J., and had gone to Tucson in search of health.

COPE, WALTER, F. A. I. A.—An architect; born in Philadelphia, October 20, 1860; died at his home in that city, November 1, 1902. He was graduated from the Friends' School in Philadelphia, spent some years in the office of a builder, was a draughtsman under two Philadelphia architects, and then spent some time in foreign travel. Soon after his return from Europe in 1885 he formed a partnership with John Stewardson, which continued up to the time of the latter's death, when his place in the firm was taken by his brother, Emlen L. Stewardson. A partial list of the work of Cope & Stewardson includes dormitories of Bryn Mawr College; Dormitories, Law School and Medical Laboratories of the University of Pennsylvania; the Washington University of St. Louis; and many fine residences, among them the Cassatt house at Rosemount, Pa. He was a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects.

- CORY, MRS. FLORENCE ELIZABETH.—A practical textile designer; born in Syracuse, N. Y.; died in New York city, March 20, 1902. She took up designing in 1877, being led to it by the sight of ugly carpets. After a course of theory in Cooper Union, she visited representative factories of the United States, and became familiar with the practical end of the business, and became a designer of wall paper, woollens and silks, as well as carpets. After conducting classes at Cooper Union, in 1881 she founded and conducted until her death the School of Industrial Art and Technical Design in New York.
- COX, CHARLES HUDSON.—A landscape painter; born in Liverpool, England, on January 28, 1829; died at his home at Waco, Tex., August 7, 1901. He studied in England and was a member of the Liverpool Water Color Society. He was a cotton broker in Liverpool, and continued in the export business at Waco, Tex., where he settled and was director of the Waco Art League. He was also instructor at the summer Chautauqua at Boulder, Col. He received numerous awards for water colors at Southern exhibitions and a premium at the Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893.
- CUNNINGHAM, JOHN WILTON.—A painter; born in St. Louis, Mo.; died near San Antonio, Tex., August 28, 1903. He was a pupil of the Fine Arts School of St. Louis and of the Julian Academy in Paris, and was awarded honorable mention at the Paris Salon in 1890. He was a member of the St. Louis Association of Painters and Sculptors.
- DE LA HARPE, JOSEPH.—A scenic artist; born in Switzerland about 1850; died in Brooklyn, N. Y., February 11, 1901. Came to the United States when a boy and settled in Salt Lake City. He made sketches and paintings for Brigham Young, and painted portraits which are now in the Mormon Temple. He came East and took up the work of scene painting; altogether he painted scenery for forty-seven theatres, twenty-four of which were in New York and Brooklyn. Among his first patrons was Augustin Daly.
- DICKSON, WALTER, F. A. I. A.—An architect; born in Albany, N. Y.; died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., in September, 1903, at the age of sixty-eight. He was educated in Albany, was the architect of the Albany Post Office, and was instrumental in the placing of bronze tablets throughout the city, commemorating Albany's bi-centennial. He had lived in Brooklyn about fifteen years and was the architect of several public buildings in New York, including the new City Prison. He was elected a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects in 1877.
- DIRKS, GUSTAVUS.—An illustrator, best known, perhaps, as the originator of the "Bugville Sketches," died at his home in New York on June 10, 1902.
- DODD, GEORGE S.—An architect; died at his home in West Orange, N. J., November 30, 1902, in the forty-second year of his age.
- DOLPH, JOHN H., N. A.—A painter; born at Fort Ann, N. Y., in 1835; died in New York city, September 28, 1903. He began his career by painting portraits in Detroit in 1857, and came to New York a few years later. He studied animal painting under Van Kuyck in Antwerp, paying particular attention to horses. He began to make a reputation in 1875, when he painted a Persian cat, and from that time he made a specialty of cats and dogs. He was awarded a bronze medal at the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, 1901. He was made an Associate of the National Academy of Design in 1877 and a full member in 1898. He was a member of the Lotos and Salmagundi Clubs, and was several times elected president of the Kit-Kat Club.
- DONOGHUE, JOHN.—A sculptor; born in Chicago; his body was found on the shores of Lake Whitney, near New Haven, Conn., on July 3, 1903. He studied at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris, and traveled and worked in many countries of Europe. His colossal group, "Sophocles Leading the Chorus After the Battle of Salamis," was awarded a first prize at the Columbian Exposition at Chicago, 1893. He designed the "St. Paul" in the Congressional Library at Washington; "The St. Louis of France" for the Appellate Court House, New York; but perhaps the best known of all his works was his "Egyptian Ibis." Was awarded honorable mention at the Paris Salon of 1886.
- DURKIN, JOHN.—An illustrator; came from the West about twelve years ago. He died in New York, May 12, 1903, aged thirty-five years.
- EARLE, WINTHROP.—A sculptor; was born in Yonkers, N. Y.; died at his home in New York city, March 2, 1902, at the age of thirty-two. He studied sculpture under Augustus Saint Gaudens in New York, and later at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts and under Rodin and Colarossi in Paris. He was a member of the Art Students' League of New York.
- EATON, C. HARRY, A. N. A.—Painter and illustrator; born at Akron, O., December 13, 1850; died at his home at Leonia, N. J., August 4, 1901. At the death of his father he inherited a sum of money, but his investments were a failure, and he turned to his art, which before had been only an amusement. He moved to New York, and became an Associate of the National Academy of Design and a member of the Water Color Society, of which he was secretary for fourteen years. He was awarded a silver medal in Boston in 1887 and a gold medal in 1888; the Evans

Prize at the American Water Color Society Exhibition in 1898 for "The Brook"; while his "Willows" received a gold medal at the Art Club of Philadelphia in 1900. He had a group of three paintings at the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, 1901, for which a bronze medal was awarded a few days after his death.

ELLCOTT, HENRY J.—A sculptor; born near Ellicott, Md., in 1848; died suddenly at his home in Washington, D. C., on February 11, 1901. Received his early education in Washington, and afterward at the National Academy of Design. His equestrian statues of General Hancock in Washington and of General McClellan in Philadelphia are probably his best known productions. He was long identified with public works in Washington.

EVANS, THOMAS D., F. A. I. A.—An architect; born in Wales, July 21, 1844; died in Pittsburg, Pa., June 20, 1903. He came to America in 1856, with his father, and settled in Pittsburg. He studied architecture in the office of Barr & Moser, and began to practice for himself in 1871; was a charter member of the Pittsburg Chapter, and a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects. - WELLS, F. MARION.—A sculptor; died in San Francisco, Cal., July 22, 1903, at the age of fifty-five. He modeled the statue of Liberty on the City Hall at San Francisco, and also designed the Marshall Monument at Coloma, raised in honor of the discoverer of gold in California. He was one of the founders of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco.
- WHISTLER, JAMES ABBOTT McNEILL.—Painter and etcher; born at Lowell, Mass., in 1834; died at his home in Chelsea, London, July 17, 1903. His father, Major George Washington Whistler, was invited by the Czar of Russia to superintend the construction of the St. Petersburg and Moscow Railroad, and therefore from his eighth to his fifteenth year he lived in Russia. After his father's death in 1849 he returned to America, and in 1851 entered West Point Military Academy, but did not graduate; later he was connected with the Coast Survey at Washington, D. C. In 1855 Whistler went to England, but shortly after he moved to Paris and studied under Gleyer. A portrait of himself etched in 1859 is the first work of any consequence that is recorded; the same year he began to exhibit at the Royal Academy, and four years later settled in London. In 1863 his "Symphony in White" was refused at the Salon, but was hung at the Salon des Refusés, where it made a great sensation. Of his many paintings the masterpiece is the "Portrait of My Mother," purchased by the French Government, and now at the Luxembourg in Paris. He delighted in night effects, and his portraits are at their best when the general impression most closely resembles his "nocturnes." While he was one of the great painters of all times, yet it is as an etcher that Whistler ranks supreme. Of the many plates that he etched, the series of sixteen known as the Thames Series takes the first rank. Whistler, the man, was perhaps the most interesting personality in the art world of the last quarter of the nineteenth century; his wit, his epigrams, his "gentle art of making enemies," kept him constantly before the public.

- WHITEHOUSE, JAMES HORTON—Art designer; born in Staffordshire, England, October 28, 1833; died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., on November 29, 1902. He came to this country in 1857. He was engaged by Tiffany & Co., and became famous for his skill and artistic tastes in designing and engraving. He was a member of the firm of Tiffany & Co., of New York, and an authority on art and engraving on precious metals. Some of his most notable works are the William Cullen Bryant Silver Vase, presented to the poet on his eightieth birthday in 1874, and now in the Metropolitan Museum of Art; the silver casket presented to the late Bishop Horatio Potter in 1879, and the Third Seal of the United States Government, now in use at Washington.
- WILSON, JOSEPH MILLER, F. A. I. A.—An architect and engineer; born in Phoenixville, Pa., on June 20, 1838; died suddenly at his office in Philadelphia on November 24, 1902. In 1860 he became assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad and held a number of important positions with that company. In 1876 he was associated with the designing and construction of the Maine Exposition Building and Machinery Hall of the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. He was president of the Franklin Institute for many years, was a member of many engineering and scientific societies, and was elected a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects in 1871.
- WITHERS, FREDERICK CLARK.—An architect; born at Shepton Mallet, England, February 4, 1828; died at his home at Yonkers, N. Y., January 7, 1901. He studied in London and came to the United States in 1853, and opened an office in Newburgh, N. Y. He enlisted in the army as first lieutenant of the New York volunteers, and after the war settled in New York city. Among many important buildings he designed the Jefferson Market Court House and Prison in New York and the Hudson River Asylum at Poughkeepsie. He published a work on church architecture.
- WITT, JOHN HARRISON, A. N. A.—A painter; born at Dublin, Wayne County, Ind., in 1840; died in New York city in 1901. He studied in Cincinnati. He was made an Associate of the National Academy of Design in 1885, and was a member of the Artists' Fund Society.
- WOOD, THOMAS WATERMAN, N. A.—A painter; born at Montpeller, Vt., November 12, 1823; died in New York, April 14, 1903. He studied in Boston and New York, and was a pupil of Hans Gude in Düsseldorf, Germany, and traveled extensively in Europe. In 1858 he exhibited his first portrait at the National Academy of Design, in 1869 he was elected an Associate and became a full Academician in 1871. From 1879 to 1891 he was vice-president and from 1891 to 1899 president of the Academy. He was also president of the American Water Color Society from 1878 to 1887, and president of the Artists' Aid Society from its foundation to his death. He was a member of the Century Association, the New York Etching Club, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the National Arts Club.
- YOUNG, HARVEY B.—A painter; born at Post Mills, Vt., 1840; died at Colorado Springs, Col., May 14, 1901. At nineteen he combined prospecting, mining and sketching in California, Nevada and Oregon. He made several trips to Europe and studied art in Munich and was a pupil of Carolus-Duran in Paris. "La Salle," one of his paintings, is in the Perkins Fine Arts Hall of Colorado College, Colorado Springs.

MELVIL DEWEY,
Director.

MYRTILLA AVERY,
Asst. Director.

Mounted photographs and lantern slides are lent to registered schools, libraries and study clubs to illustrate courses of study. The photographs are mounted on 11x14 inch cards. The catalogue is on cards and has not been printed, but typewritten lists of special subjects are lent.

On application, lanterns will be lent with a 12x12 foot screen and attachment for lighting.

The fee for each fifty photographs or fifty lantern slides or less is $1 for each month or fraction thereof; for a lantern, $2 for the first month and $1 for each additional month consecutively. The fee entitles borrower to free transportation on one shipment each way.

Large pictures, framed without glass, are lent to libraries, clubs and Regent schools. The fee is $1 for each picture; transportation both ways is paid by the State. The time limit is six months for libraries and clubs, but schools may retain the pictures during the academic year.

ART COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF BALTIMORE.

MAYOR OF THE CITY, EX-OFFICIO,
President.

J. B. NOEL WYATT,
Secretary,
2 East Lexington St.

The Art Commission is for the purpose of protection and decision in regard to art matters submitted for its approval. It takes no initiative in the promotion of art objects.

Since October, 1900, it has given its approval of several important works that have been erected in the city, notably the three memorial monuments on Mt. Royal Avenue, after criticising and rejecting the first submitted designs for same; and also two mural decorations for the new Court House by C. Y. Turner and one by E. H. Blashfield. (See illustration.)

The Society has been successful in having $30,000 made available for decorations of the Court House in Baltimore, $5,000 of this having been furnished by the Society. This work consists of three mural decorations. The first, by C. Y. Turner, "Barter with the Indians for Land in Southern Maryland," was unveiled June 2, 1902; the second, by Edwin H. Blashfield, "Washington Surrendering His Commission (see illustration), was unveiled February 9, 1903. The commission for the third was given to Mr. Simmons, but declined, and Mr. Turner is now commissioned to paint the third, "The Burning of the Peggy Stewart."

An Art Loan Exhibition, including paintings, bronzes and other works of art, was held in the Fifth Regiment Armory in March, 1902.

THE DOGMA OF THE REDEMPTION.

By JOHN S. SARGENT.

On the cross is the dead Christ, with the figures of Adam and Eve, typifying Humanity to be redeemed, closely bound to Him and each holding a chalice to receive the blood that flows from the wounds. The serpent lies coiled on the cross, and the feet of Adam are entangled in its folds: man dragged down by the weight of evil. At the foot of the cross is a special symbol of the Church, the pelican feeding its young. Above are three colossal figures, the Person of the Trinity, the three faces exactly the same and the three figures enveloped by one vast red cloak, with a hem of gold which runs through the picture like a ribbon and is inscribed with the word "Sanctus," continually repeated. The frieze consists of eight angels, bearing the instruments of the Passion.

In 1902 the trustees authorized the sale of the present Museum building and the land appurtenant. A contract of sale was made on behalf of the Museum with a syndicate known as the Copley Square Trust, for the purchase price of $1,800,000, possession to be given at the option of the Museum at any time before June, 1909. The trustees appointed a building committee with full powers to procure plans, specifications and estimates for Museum buildings on the Fenway land. The president is chairman, and the director is secretary of the committee. R. Clipston Sturgis was chosen as the architect in the initial stage of the planning of the new Museum, and he selected Edmund M. Wheelwright as consulting architect.

The work of the Print Department has been continued, the total number of prints being about 73,900. The library of the print department includes 1,522 works in 1,814 volumes. An exhibition of photographs of paintings by Rembrandt in July, 1901, was followed by selections from new acquisitions, November 1, 1901; engravings by Lucas van Leyden, Dürer and Marco-Antonio Raimondi, February 1, 1902; four centuries of Dutch and Flemish etchings, November 1, 1902.

In 1900 a room was assigned for the collection of photographs and an assistant placed in charge.

The rooms are open to the public daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for the exhibition and sale of such works, designed or executed by members, as have been admitted for sale by a jury elected by the council.

The Society was organized in 1897 "for the purpose of promoting artistic work in all branches of handicraft, and to bring designers and workmen into mutually helpful relations. The membership of the Society is divided into three classes: Craftsmen, Masters and Associates. (Names of Craftsmen and Masters are entered in the Directory of Workers in Applied Arts of the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL.) Social meetings are frequently held, at which addresses are made by members or others qualified to speak upon one of the crafts or some kindred subject.

In April, 1902, the Society commenced the publication of Handicraft, a small monthly which is intended as a means of increasing clearness of thought and community of sentiment among the followers of the Arts and Crafts movement. In connection with the South End House Association the Society conducts the lace industry at the South Bay Union, 640 Harrison Avenue. Here Honiton and Duchesse, Venice, Burano, Brussels, Alençon and Anglet-terre Point laces are made, and old laces are repaired by a group of young women under the expert guidance of Mrs. E. J. Weber.

THE EXHIBITION OF FINE ARTS.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REPORT OF WILLIAM A. COFFIN, DIRECTOR OF FINE ARTS.

The exhibition was made up almost altogether by direct invitation. The artists of the United States, both those at home and those resident abroad, were asked to submit lists of their works executed since 1876 which they especially wished to have represent them in the exhibition, and selections were made from these lists. Some of the works in the exhibition were secured from the artists themselves, while others were obtained from amateurs and from public institutions.

The Director of Fine Arts, as soon as it was determined, in October, 1900, that the scope of the exhibition should include only works of American artists, felt that, while his work should begin at home and the first thing to be done was to secure the co-operation of the eminent artists who lived in the United States, it was quite as important to secure a full representation of the best work of our artists dwelling in Europe. He went abroad in January to obtain contributions from the artists in Paris and other parts of the Continent and in Great Britain, and the result of this trip was to secure work from most of the prominent American painters and sculptors in Europe, and also an interesting collection of works by younger men who have finished their studies in the European art centres but have not yet returned to take up permanent residence at home.

The United States exhibitors numbered over 650, and the total of works shown in the four groups was nearly 1,700. There were about 1,000 pictures, oil or water color, pastel and miniatures. In sculpture there were over 225 works. The etchings, engravings, black and white drawings, etc., numbered about 325. Over 100 photographs of buildings erected by leading architects and some models composed the architectural section. A gallery in the Fine Arts Building contained the Canadian exhibition of fine arts, which was made up by a committee of the Royal Canadian Academy, with Mr. Robert Harris, President of the Academy, as chairman. In addition to these there were in the sculpture court half a dozen pieces of sculpture by Canadian artists. In the International Section there were works by artists of South American birth and from such North American provinces as Newfoundland.

The group system in the hanging of pictures was a feature of this exhibition, and it is owing in part to following this system of placing a number of works by the same artist in a group on the walls that the co-operation of a number of eminent artists was secured who are unwilling to lend to exhibitions where only one or two examples of their work may be shown, or where, if they have a larger number, these works may be widely scattered. The exhibition of sculpture proved to be a revelation to those who have not closely followed the wonderful progress made in recent years by American sculptors. It included a number of important works which have been acclaimed in the annual exhibitions in New York and other cities; many pieces which have been medalled at the Paris Universal Expositions and in the annual Salons, as well as a number of works which have not before been exhibited in the United States or in Europe. Among the pictures were over 100 canvases which have been awarded prizes at the Society of American Artists, the National Academy of Design, the American Water Color Society and other annual exhibitions in New York; at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, the Art Club of Philadelphia, the Art Institute of Chicago, and other important exhibitions in the United States, and in various foreign exhibitions. There were pictures also by such eminent artists as George Inness, Homer Martin and A. H. Wyant, among those who have passed away, but whose work lends glory to the contemporary American school.

GIBBS ART INSTITUTE.

Charleston, S. C.

A classical building of Winnsboro granite is to be erected on the site of the old Grand Opera House on Meeting Street. The site and building will cost about $100,000.

SOUTH CAROLINA INTER-STATE AND WEST INDIAN EXPOSITION, 1902.

Charleston, S. C.

JAMES B. TOWNSEND, Director of Fine Arts.

The art gallery, which stood by itself in the so called natural section of the exposition grounds and on the bank of the Ashley River, was a permanent structure of brick covered with ivory tinted staff.

It was divided into one large central or sculpture court and two side galleries, and on the four pediments at the corners were the groups in sculpture made of staff which had adorned the Dewey Naval Arch in New York. There were thirteen panels on the walls of the building, just under the pediment of the roof, and on these were inscribed in letters of gold the names of the foremost deceased American painters, sculptors and architects. The names selected after considerable competition were those of the painters Inness, Wyant and Martin, Fuller, Stuart, Copley, Peale and Sully; the sculptors Powers and Story, and the architects Richardson and Hunt. This was the first time that the names of dead American masters of the allied arts have been placed upon any American art building in preference to those of foreign masters. On the two small pediments flanking the broad stairway at the front of the building stood Daniel C. French's figures of Architecture and Art.

The feature of the art display itself was the fact that every American painter of note, from Gilbert Stuart to Sargent and Chase, was represented by at least one good example. Charleston and its adjacent country were found to be very rich in examples of early American art. There were shown in one gallery over 100 examples of such early American painters as Gilbert Stuart, Trumbull, the Peales, Jarvis, Waldo, Copley and the later Ingham, Inman, Jewett and Sully—all collected in and around Charleston. There were eight examples of Copley, including the double portrait of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Izard recently purchased by the Boston Museum, six of Gilbert Stuart and thirty-nine of Sully. There were also shown in this gallery devoted to early American art a number of miniatures by Malbone and Fraser and Bonnetheau, the early miniature painters, and some examples by Rembrandt Peale.

The remainder of the art display was made up of over four hundred pictures and some hundred pieces of sculpture. Many of them had been shown at the preceding Buffalo exhibition, and others were from the dealers' and private galleries of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. There were five examples of Chase, two of Sargent and one or more of Inness, Wyant, Martin, Homer, O. H. Walker, Horatio Walker, Thomas Moran, Murphy, Picknell, Bunce, Vinton, Eastman Johnson, John W. Alexander, Beckwith, Frank Fowler, etc.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

Cambridge, Mass.

DEPARTMENT OF ARCHITECTURE.

Robinson Hall.

Robinson Hall, erected in memory of Nelson Robinson, Jr., was built in 1902, at a cost of about $200,000. (For details of the School of Architecture see tabulated list of schools.)

THE FOGG ART MUSEUM.

CHARLES H. MOORE, DIRECTOR.

(For foundation and history see Vol. I, p. 117.)

The Museum is open daily from 9 until 5 o'clock, and from 7 to 9 in the evening; on Sundays from 1 till 5 p. m.

During 1900-1901 the most important accessions to the Museum consisted of a marble statue, an original work of later Greek sculpture, from members of the class of 1895; a large triptych in tempera of the Italian School of the Fifteenth Century; a "Holy Family" of the Sixteenth Century in oil, added by Edward W. Forbes to his loan collection; a lead pencil and wash drawing by John Ruskin has been acquired by the Department of Fine Arts. Seventeen electrotype representations of objects of Mycenaean art, two electrotypes of Vaphio cups, 858 photographs and 266 slides were purchased.

During 1901-1902 the Museum acquired 200 phototype reproductions of Rembrandt's works; 217 slides; a water color drawing by Turner; a marble statue of Narcissus.

The Gray and Randall collections together afford materials for the thorough study of engraving from its earliest beginnings and in all its varieties. In the year 1901-1902 ten prints of Turner's "Liber Studiorum" were added to the Gray Collection. A large part of the income of both the Gray and Randall funds was used for the expenses of cataloguing and administration; 1,574 prints of the Randall Collection were catalogued, and 323 (new accessions) of the Gray Collection.

Photographs of the original works of art at the Museum are now kept on sale.

Visits Made—1901-1902: For access to photographs, 1,462; for access to prints, 169. 1902-1903: For access to photographs, 1,289; for access to prints, 473.

GERMANIC MUSEUM.

The Museum has recently received a fine collection of casts, valued at $100,000, which was presented by the Emperor of Germany in March, 1902. The Museum will be dedicated and opened to the public in November, 1903.

ALTRUA ART LIBRARY.

1223 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.

The Library is open all day and is free to any woman employed in the downtown district. Membership tickets are sold to those not employed downtown at $1 a year.

In addition to the books the Library contains a large collection of magazine articles bound and catalogued under the heads of art, literature, biography, etc. The Altrua Club owns about 4,000 photographs which may be used to illustrate talks or papers. Free classes in Greek and Roman history, English literature, French, art history, etc., meet in the evenings.

THE ANTIQUARIANS OF THE ART INSTITUTE.

Chicago, Ill.

The society called the Antiquarians of the Art Institute is an association of ladies organized for the sole object of making collections of antique and artistic textile fabrics and other objects of decorative art, for the Museum of the Art Institute.

During the past three years a number of objects have been purchased and presented to the Art Institute by the Society, and many others were presented by individuals through the Antiquarians.

Some of these gifts were as follows: Several ecclesiastical robes of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries from Mexico; a collection of 235 pieces of old lace from Germany; a jewel box from Tunis; a snuff box of the Louis XV period; and a sixteenth century cabinet from the curator of the Museum at Berlin. A collection of old tassels was begun, as a means of education to the modern educator. In the following year the tassel collection was augmented, and galloons and fringes added. An Indian lace handkerchief, an Italian ring, an old English silver tea set and a Flemish cabinet were received during that year.

THE ART CRAFT INSTITUTE.

184 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

MRS. T. VERNETTE MORSE, President, Director Art Department.

(For information regarding classes, see tabulated list of schools.)

The Hand Workers' Guild of the Institute is an organization composed of students and patrons for the purpose of social intercourse, lectures and exhibitions of work. It meets every Saturday afternoon during the school year.

THE ART INSTITUTE OF CHICAGO,

Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson fitted up with mosaic floor, marble wainscoting and appropriate decorations the corridor adjacent to the collection bearing their name. The work was executed in the summer of 1901 and opened to the public at the same time as the Ryerson Library.

The Ryerson Library, erected by Mr. Martin A. Ryerson, was completed and opened upon October 26, 1901. The general scheme of decoration of the Library was designed and executed by Elmer E. Garnsey. The skylight was designed by Louis J. Millet. The official report of June 4, 1903, shows that the Library contains 2,900 volumes, and that the visitors during the year numbered 42,769. A room in the Library has been partitioned off and fitted up for the accommodation of a collection of stereopticon slides of paintings, sculpture and other objects of art. Mrs. A. N. Kendal has started this collection and borne the expense of fitting up the room; 300 slides have already been purchased.

The Sculpture Hall was finished in November, 1902, and the installation of architectural casts begun. The building is roofed in at the top of the first floor, thus enclosing the Sculpture Gallery. This hall is 208 feet long, 58 feet wide and 33 feet high. Some of the casts are 35 feet long and more than 30 feet high. These casts, of cathedral portals and other architectural sculpture from the eleventh to the nineteenth century, were sent to the Columbian Exposition by the French Government, and a part of them has been kept in storage for nearly ten years. The collection was formed under the direction of the French National Committee on Historic Monuments, from the Trocadero, the Louvre and the Museum of Decorative Arts in Paris. The largest pieces are portals of the Cathedrals of Bordeaux, St. Marceaux and St. Gilles, and the choir gallery of Limoges.

Mr. Norman W. Harris established a prize of $500, to be awarded for the best painting in the exhibition by an American artist, painted within two years preceding the exhibition. The first award was made at the fifteenth annual exhibition in October, 1902.

The Trustees of the Institute interested themselves in the amendment of the inheritance tax laws, and under a law of Congress ordering the reimbursement of money paid by charitable and educational institutions under such law the Institute recovered $1,250 paid upon the bequest of T. B. Blackstone.

IMPORTANT ACQUISITIONS.

1900-1901.—Legal possession of the Munger collection of pictures, in pursuance of the bequest of Albert A. Munger, who died August 26, 1898; $22,562.50, legacy of Timothy B. Blackstone; $4,854.32, legacy of John Quincy Adams.

The following paintings were received: "View at Delft," by an unknown Dutch artist, presented by Samuel Gaus; four paintings, by Hubert Robert, presented by A. C. Bartlett, Clarence Buckingham, R. T. Crane and W. G. Hibbard; "Troilus and Cressida," by Benjamin West, presented by W. O.

Cole; silver medallion, presented by C. L. Hutchinson; various drawings presented by architects to the School of Architecture; a collection of 236 Japanese prints and sketches, presented by Gustavus Goward; a large collection of old laces and textiles, cabinets, etc., presented by the Society of Antiquarians.

1901-1902.—$4,874.67, legacy of Mrs. Frances B. Ogden; $1,000, legacy of Huntington W. Jackson; $38,000, proceeds of the sale of a tract of land bequeathed by Mrs. Maria Sheldon Scammon, the income to be devoted to providing courses of lectures (this will amount to about $1,500 a year, and the Scammon Lectures were opened in May, 1903, by Mr. John La Farge, who delivered a course of six upon "The So-Called Barbizon Painters"). A collection of antique glass and Egyptian objects was presented by Mr. J. Rosenbaum through the Society of Antiquarians.

1902-1903.—The following oil paintings were acquired: "The Pilots, Puerta de Passage," by Frank Brangwyn, and "The Cliffs at Trouville," by Claude Monet, were purchased from the Stickney bequest; "Portrait of H. W. Hewitt," by Charles Loring Elliott, purchased; "A Woman of the Empire," by Walter McEwen, presented by Mrs. Charles J. Singer; "Portrait of Charles L. Hutchinson," by Gari Melchers, presented by friends; "Still Life," by Charles Dyer, presented by the heirs of Henry W. King; fifty-four original drawings, by Will H. Low, were purchased from the Stickney bequest; plaster cast of the equestrian statue of Bartolommeo Colleoni, by Verrocchio, purchased from the Blackstone Fund; cabinet, textiles and other objects presented by the Society of the Antiquarians.

Lectures have been given on Tuesday afternoon throughout each season. There have also been additional courses upon sculpture, decorative art, painting and architecture.

The Society decorates schools with pictures, casts and plants, arranges to have lectures on art delivered and exhibits collections.

In the year 1901-1902 the special work was the decoration of model schools, the John B. Drake School and the Washington School being selected. The walls were satisfactorily tinted, and then pictures hung, which had been chosen with reference to their character, and suitability to the age and comprehension of the pupils. With the co-operation of the Outdoor Art and Park Association and Mrs. John B. Drake, vines were planted on the grounds.

The loan collection, consisting of thirty-four pictures, was lent to four schools. The Altrua Collection was lent to the John Worthy School, and the collection given by the Daughters of the American Revolution was exhibited at the Haven School.

Mrs. Sherwood spoke in twenty-eight schools in Illinois, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Indiana and Texas, to extend the knowledge and aims of the Society.

The "Baldur Frieze," a large canvas representing the death of Baldur, was presented by the Society of New Jerusalem.

Founded April 9, 1901.
HENRIETTA KAUFFMANN,
President.

The organization was founded in 1901, and the purpose is to bring together an association of ladies whose object is to promote and to propagate a true art spirit, to encourage the purest taste and historical accuracy in all the arts through their patronage and efforts; to aid the members and associates in the study of home and church adornment, and to give an insight into the ancient arts.

The organization publishes "The Needlecrafters' Record" as a means of communication, and to illustrate rare examples of ecclesiastical and secular embroidery, lace, weaving, knitting, books, bookbinding, book plates, silver, china, as well as curios and objects of art.

Since 1902 a number of illustrated papers treating of Symbolism, Book Plates, etc., have been presented by the Director General. Free exhibitions of rare design or craftsmanship have been held or loaned as follows:

Pan-American Exposition, embroidered book covers (for which Mrs. Rath-Merrill received a gold medal); the Columbus Art Association, for its Arts and Crafts Exhibition; the Baltimore Arts and Crafts Exhibition (first prize awarded).

The first annual reunion and exhibition was held in 1902 in Recital Hall at Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

At the annual reunion and exhibition to be held in Columbus, Ohio, in November, 1903, there will be three illustrated lectures, "Book Plate Lore," by Charles Dexter Allen. Drawing room talks will be given during the season by Mrs. Rath-Merrill at the homes of the Council. Preparations for an exhibit for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis are under way.

The annual meeting takes place within ten days of the opening of the spring exhibition.

The city of Denver is erecting in the City Park a building costing $100,000 for the use of the Colorado Museum of Natural History. The building will contain an art gallery after the most approved modern plans in matters of arrangement, light and safety. The Artists' Club contributed the sum of $3,000 to its equipment, which sum was subscribed without difficulty. The gallery is to be placed at the disposal of the Club, subject to well defined conditions.

MUNICIPAL ART LEAGUE.

Denver, Col.

The League was incorporated in 1903. Through its efforts provision for an Art Commission was incorporated in the new charter of the city of Denver.

ART IN DENVER SCHOOLS.

The sum of $1,500 to $1,800 has been spent by the schools in the past three years, including contributions by the Art League, Woman's Club Committee and class gifts. The rooms have not been decorated, but pictures and other works of art have been distributed among the rooms. Fifty pictures, forty casts and twenty pieces of pottery are in use. Carbon photographs, colored lithographs, photogravures and Piranesi etchings have been selected.

In the High Schools probably $300 is invested annually in casts and pictures. In one school a room costing $100 was furnished during the last two years. Patrons of the schools have donated objects of art, the Corona School having received several valuable gifts, and through its Art League has spent several hundred dollars in beautifying the walls.

The Museum of Art is open to visitors on Sunday and Monday from 2 to 4 p. m., and all other days from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., being at all times free to the public.

The annual meeting of incorporators is held the first Monday in July.

In 1899 the State empowered the Common Council to appropriate each year a sum not to exceed $20,000. Under that act the annual appropriation has been $12,000.

The Museum comprises the following departments: Sculpture; Plaster Casts; Picture Galleries; Modern Pictures; Japanese Art; Gems, Coins and Medals; Antiquities; a collection from China and Corea; one from Turkey, Persia and Asia; Keramics; Arms and Armor; Footwear; Pipes; a Scientific Department, and a miscellaneous Ethnological Collection.

The attendance numbered 134,076 in 1900, and is increasing steadily.

An important feature consists of the lecture given in the Galleries on Sunday afternoons by the Director.

The annual meeting is held the first Tuesday in May (May 3, 1904); regular meeting the first Tuesday of each month during the season.

At the exhibition held February 16 to March 9, 1901, gold and silver medals were offered in a competition of designs for a "Naval Boat Landing," awarded to Roy Corwin Crosby and Franklin B. Lefferts. The Avery prize, $50, was awarded to Mrs. David Crownfield, for the best design for a "Portable Bronze Stand for an Electric Light for Table Use." The President's medal for the best "Poster Design for the League Exhibition" was awarded to Claude F. Bragdon.

At the exhibition held February 16 to March 8, 1902, the gold and silver medals offered for best designs for "A Library for a Suburban Town" were awarded to Albert P. D. Helmer and Eugene J. Lang. The Avery prize of $50 was awarded to Paul Wiehle for the best design for a Caryatide for Mantel in Louis Quinze style; honorable mention to F. F. Hatch. The President's bronze medal for the best design for mural paintings representing Architecture and the Allied Arts was awarded to Bryson Burroughs.

At the exhibition held February 15 to March 8, 1903, gold and silver medals were offered for best designs for "A Small Country Church," awarded to Frank E. Cleveland and William Leslie Weston. The Avery prize of $50 for the best design for a "Sun Dial for a Country Garden" was awarded to Mrs. Edith Woodman Burroughs. The President's bronze medal for the best design for a mural painting representing Music was awarded to J. Mortimer Lichtenauer.

Frequent smaller exhibitions are given in the League rooms, showing collections of Architectural Photographs, fine and rare Japanese prints, etc.

The nineteenth annual exhibition will be held in the American Fine Arts Building from February 13 to March 7, 1904.

ARTISTS' AID SOCIETY.

New York.

FRANCIS C. JONES,
President.

WILLIAM BAILEY FAXON,
Treasurer.

J. C. NICOLL,

Secretary.

51 West 10th St., Manhattan.

(For foundation see Vol. I, p. 253.)

The general meeting is held the first Wednesday in December.

The fund for aid to members in sickness or distress amounts to over $3,000. The Society controls a free bed in the Presbyterian Hospital for the use of artists, which was occupied almost continuously during the year 1902 by artists not members of the Society.

Besides paying the death losses of Henry Farrer and Thomas W. Wood, aid has been given to several artists not members of the Society.

(For foundation and history see Vol. III, p. 130.)

The annual meeting is held the third week in April, and the annual exhibition the second week in May. Monthly and special exhibitions are held in the members' room.

Until recently the school has only taught those branches of art commonly known as the Fine Arts, viz.: Drawing, painting, composition and sculpture. Classes and lectures in perspective, anatomy, architectural styles, illustration, etc., have now been added, which have a close relation to the Fine Arts. It is desired to elaborate and extend these branches to include the history of architecture, classic and Renaissance ornament, mural composition and such branches of the applied arts as may be deemed advisable. In order to carry out this plan an endowment fund has been established.

(For details of instruction see tabulated list of schools.)

THE ART WORKERS' CLUB FOR WOMEN.

11 East 59th St., Manhattan.

MRS. ARTHUR M. SHERWOOD,
President.HELEN SANBORN SARGENT,
CONSTANCE CURTIS,
Vice-Presidents.IDA KNAPP,
Treasurer.LOUISA VERPLANCK RICHARDS,
Secretary.LAURA CATE,
Superintendent.

This organization has for its object the bringing together of all classes of women art workers for purposes of mutual interest and support, the primal objects being to develop, refine and dignify the profession of posing, to assist painters in obtaining models suited to their work, and to place models in legitimate employment.

The membership comprises 200 women artists, 125 women models, a hundred subscribers to the Employment Bureau, and about a hundred associates and contributors to the several departments of the work.

The Club rooms are open daily from 9 to 6, on Sunday afternoons, and on the evenings of special classes. A business meeting is held once a month, a board meeting once a week, and at intervals through the winter musical and dramatic entertainments are given. There is a library and a members' room where lunches are served for a small sum to members only and where afternoon tea is served daily without charge.

The classes through the winter of 1903 were well attended. There was a class in applied design, the work of which was sold in the spring. There is also an annual Christmas sale.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY.

Morningside Heights. Manhattan, New York.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER,
President.

F. P. KEPPEL,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF FINE ARTS.

Columbia University possesses as yet no distinct faculty or School of the Fine Arts. There are, however, a considerable number of courses offered by the University on the fine arts and closely allied subjects. The School of Architecture and the Department of Music were organized independently under the control of the President in the autumn of 1902. Courses in Teachers College, Columbia College and under the Faculty of Philosophy are closely allied; the collections of the Metropolitan Museum are available to students; the Avery Architectural Library is open to students, and during 1902-1903 a course of public lectures on art was given in Havemeyer Hall. These lectures were free to the public.

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT.

FREDERICK HENRY SYKES, Director.

Instruction offered to non-resident students. Lecture courses are given at the Teachers College, and local centres may be established wherever a community undertakes to offer year by year one or more of the Extension courses of the University. "Art Interpretation" will be given by Alfred V. Churchill; "Theory and Practice of Design" by Frank A. Parsons; "History of Art" by George S. Kellogg.

A course in the "History of Art" is also given in the Summer Schools of Columbia. (For details of instruction in School of Architecture and at Teachers College see tabulated list of schools.)

AVERY ARCHITECTURAL LIBRARY.

The Library is open every day in the year except Sundays and four holidays from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m., and from 7 to 11 p. m. During the summer vacation the Library closes at 10 p. m.

The Henry O. Avery Memorial Architectural Library of Columbia University in the city of New York was founded by Mr. Samuel Putnam Avery and his wife, Mrs. Mary Ogden Avery, of New York. The constitution of the Library is set forth in a letter of gift to President Seth Low bearing the date June 23, 1890.

The original endowment was $15,000, which has been increased to $30,000. The interest of this fund pays for binding and current periodicals, with a balance which is used for the lighter sort of material needed by readers. The great mass of books has come directly from the founders, by purchase with revenues of their endowment or by their personal gifts. It is impossible to estimate precisely the amount of money spent in this way, but it is not far from $100,000.

As their advisers and helpers in the formation of the Library the founders created by their letter of gift a Committee of Purchase, consisting of the Librarian of the University, the professor or acting professor of the Architectural Department of Columbia University, and Mr. Russell Sturgis, whose successor in case of his declination at any time must be an architect not directly connected with Columbia University.

It has been the intention of the founders and of the committee to make the collection a complete presentation of the best architectural literature. It contains all the famous old books and the most useful and important of modern publications.

The collection also includes good material on the various arts which are more or less intimately associated with architecture, such as the manufacture of tapestries, carpets, stained glass, mosaics, etc. Sculpture has been considered as an accessory art to architecture, and the Library is strong on that subject; but painting has not been included.

The Library contains about 18,000 volumes, and is especially strong in current periodicals.

COOPER UNION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE AND ART.

Third Ave. and 8th St., Manhattan. New York.

EDWARD COOPER,
President.

EDWARD R. HEWITT,
Treasurer.

L. C. JORDAN, Assistant Secretary.

(For foundation and history see Vol. I, p. 300, and Vol. II, p. 135.)

Cooper Union suffered in the past year the loss of its secretary, Abram Stevens Hewitt, who had been for more than forty years one of the trustees of the Institute and practically general superintendent. His personal contributions in money were over $200,000, and no doubt it is largely due to his personality and the work he did for the Cooper Union that donors not related to Mr. Cooper have made it the recipient of their munificent contributions to its endowment fund. Mr. Peter Cooper Hewitt, eldest son of Mr. Hewitt, was elected trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father.

Owing to the necessity of using the entire building for class rooms and the loss of income from parts heretofore rented, the revenue from the endowment fund became insufficient. In 1902 Andrew Carnegie offered to supplement his previous gift of $300,000 by an additional $300,000; following this the institution received an additional annual income of $25,000 from the descendants of Peter Cooper, who, by a family agreement, transferred to Cooper Union the fund created by Peter Cooper, and which was to revert to the institution upon the decease of his children and grandchildren. At this juncture a citizen of New York who does not wish his name mentioned made a gift of $250,000 for the general purposes of the institution, and from the estate of Oswald Ottendorfer $20,000 was received, the income of which will be reserved for the purchase of books, chiefly in the German language. The total of these gifts, with some smaller amounts, is a fund of over $2,100,000, producing an income of at least $90,000 a year, a sum sufficient for the present needs of Cooper Union.

The inauguration of a system of scholarships to enable deserving young men to attend the Day School was made by the gift of $2,500 each from the Misses Campbell in 1901. The following year Jacob H. Schiff gave $5,000 to found two scholarships in commemoration of the eightieth birthday of Abram S. Hewitt, and a similar sum to found scholarships was received from John F. O'Rourke, an alumnus of Cooper Union.

The Alumni Association has taken an active interest in the growth of the institution, and many of the improvements have been due to the initiative of the Association. On May 11, 1901, the 100th anniversary of the birth of Peter Cooper, a bas-relief by Augustus Saint Gaudens was unveiled in the main corridor by the Alumni.

The duration of the classes has been extended from six to eight months. The Chemical Laboratory and the Physical Laboratory are open day and night. The three laboratories having reached their full development it has become necessary to use the entire building. The intention is to maintain a free school primarily for the education of workmen, and not a professional institution. The trustees expect, however, that the proposed instruction by day will be used mainly by the graduates of the high schools, and Cooper Union will thus be made to supplement the courses of the high schools, not to replace them, and become a means of admission to the higher instruction offered by Columbia University. (For details of the Art Schools see tabulated list of schools.)

MUSEUM FOR THE ARTS OF DECORATION.

SARAH COOPER HEWITT,
Chairman Committee of Management.

MARY A. PEOLI,
Custodian.

Open free to the public daily, except Sundays and Mondays, from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The annual report presented May 29, 1903, showed that 1,525 people had visited the Museum during the year, an increase of 567 in the past three years; 109 persons have actually worked there.

Visitors this year represented fifty-one different professions connected with the arts.

During the past few years the subject of decoration has come into great prominence, and skilled workmen are required for this purpose. With this object in view the Museum was started about eight years ago, and has now reached such a development as to make it possible to establish what may be termed an art laboratory, organized with special reference to the application of art to the purposes of decoration.

The library now contains 600 encyclopædic scrap books, and card catalogues of the scrap books and reference books have been arranged according to subjects, artists and places. New cases showing textile fabrics have been arranged in chronological order. Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan presented three collections of mediæval tissues purchased in Europe, valued at over $30,000, but their value is scarcely to be measured in money, as they give the Museum a distinction unique on this continent. Many gifts to the scrap books and reference library and also some gifts of money have been made; $1,000 from Elmer E. Garnsey deserves special mention, as it was given in recognition of the advantages he enjoyed in having been a pupil of the Night School of Art.

THE FINE ARTS FEDERATION OF NEW YORK.

Museums, colleges, art schools and libraries throughout the United States continually request casts of the sculptures in the Museum, and the trustees decided to establish a molding and cast department to furnish such institutions with the casts needed for educational purposes.

The Saturday lectures given in conjunction with Columbia University during the season of 1900 were as follows: Wm. B. Van Ingen, January 6, 13, 20 and 27, "Japanese Art"; Jean Schopfer, February 3, 10, 17 and 24, "Gothic and Renaissance Architecture and Sculpture"; Rev. Wm. Hayes Ward, March 3, 10, 17, 24 and 31, "Art and Religion in the Primitive East." These lectures have been discontinued.

The new wing and entrance on the Fifth avenue side was opened December 22, 1902. (See illustration.)

During 1901 and 1902 the Curator of the Department of Casts classified and placed on exhibition 950 casts, purchased some years ago by a special committee, but which had been stored owing to lack of room.

During 1902 and 1903 the valuable collection of paintings belonging to Mr. George W. Vanderbilt was on exhibition.

The Jacob H. Lazarus Scholarship, payable by the Treasurer of the Museum, was awarded in the autumn of 1902 to Robert Knight Ryland, of Russellville, Ky. Application should be made to Frederic Crowninshield, chairman committee in charge, 48 West 18th St., Manhattan. (For particulars regarding this scholarship, see Vol. II, p. 23.)

IMPORTANT ACQUISITIONS.

1900.—Bequests: From Collis P. Huntington, collection of paintings; Robert Graham Dun, 25 paintings; Osgood Field, a collection of art objects; Henry Villard, $5,000. Donations: Mrs. John Crosby Brown, 325 musical instruments; J. Pierpont Morgan, a collection of classical Greek art objects in gold; 3 oil paintings (portrait of Christopher Columbus, by Sebastiano del Piombo; "Lord Nelson on the Victory," by C. Lucy; "Napoleon at St. Helena," by B. R. Haydon); William E. Dodge, oil painting "Cambyse's Punishment of an Unjust Judge," by Rubens); Mrs. Henry Marquand, 2 oil paintings (portraits of Caleb Gaspar and Mrs. Laura Gaspar Griswold, by Charles L. der Heist); National Sculpture Society, portrait bust (reproduction in bronze of the late Olin L. Warner's work); William H. Redding, 108 souvenir spoons; Miss Georgina Schuyler, 19 specimens of old lace; several gentlemen, an oil painting ("The Coppersmith," by Edgar M. Ward). By purchase: The loan collection of Mexican antiquities has been purchased by the Museum. The institution has also acquired 29 ancient Greek gold ornaments, 15 objects in bronze, 6 terra cottas, 8 funerary stones found in Palmyra, and 8 pieces of ancient glass. Through the kindness of Hon E. E. Farman the Museum secured 38 Greco-Roman terra cotta masks found at Alexandria.

1901.—Bequests: The Museum was made the residuary legatee by Jacob S. Rogers, the income of his estate to be used for the purchase of art objects (it is estimated that the bequest will amount to over $5,000,000); from the estate of Henry Villard, $5,000. Donations: Mrs. John Crosby Brown, 164 musical instruments and 523 portraits of musicians; Charles B. Curtis, $10,000 in bonds; the Egypt Exploration Fund, of London, 109 antiquities, found at Abydos; Mrs. Charles B. Foote, 203 portraits of musicians; W. F. Havemeyer, oil painting ("In Strange Seas," by George W. Maynard); the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, oil painting ("The Revolt at Pavia," by Paul Emile Boutigny); Paroutard & Watson, 35 pieces of porcelain; Alfred Duane Pell, 274 specimens of European porcelains; William H. Redding, 22 souvenir spoons; Mrs. Mary A. Witthaus, 20 specimens of old lace, 3 fans, 1 carriage parasol; 252 Roman gold coins, a portion of a recent bequest of coins from Joseph H. Durkee, were labeled and placed on exhibition. The Museum acquired by purchase 9 ancient Greek Etruscan vases, several bronze lamps, vases and mirrors, a Roman iron key, and a number of ancient terra cotta vases and statuettes.

1902.—Donations: Heber R. Bishop, a collection of jade and $55,000 for its installation in the Museum; Mrs. John Crosby Brown, 198 musical instruments and 15 sheets of Japanese music; William B. Osgood Field, 97 objects of Italian majolica, tiles, helmets, shields and woodwork; Alfred Duane Pell, 57 specimens of European porcelain; William H. Redding, 23 souvenir spoons; James Henry Smith, oil painting ("The Holy Family," by Rubens). Acquisitions by purchase included 14 terra cotta vases, 6 Greco-Roman statuettes, 3 terra cotta statuettes and 7 ancient glass vases.

NEW YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Second Ave. and 11th St., Manhattan, New York.

HON. JOHN A. KING,
President.DR. SYDNEY H. CARNEY, JR.,
Rec. Secretary.

(For foundation and history see Vol. I, p. 226.)

The Society possesses an interesting collection of old foreign paintings, a number of early American portraits, an archæological collection and an important library, open to members and their friends.

The Society is beginning the erection of a new building on Central Park West, where it owns the entire block from 76th to 77th streets. The cornerstone will be laid in November, 1903.

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations.

F. WEIENKAMPF, Curator Print Department.

(For history and foundation see Vol. I, p. 227, and Vol. III, p. 155.)

The collection of paintings and prints is at present at the Lenox Building, Fifth avenue and Seventieth street, and is open free to the public daily, except Sundays, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Besides its artistic value, the collection of prints contains many pieces in which the subject is of paramount interest, such as portraits, historical scenes, views, costumes, etc.

Exhibitions since October, 1900, have been held as follows: Etchings and Lithographs by Whistler; Japanese Prints, C. S. Smith collection; selection of Prints from J. Pierpont Morgan Collection, illustrating history of engraving to 1700; Artistic Portraits; Rembrandt Etchings from the Morgan Collection; Lithographs by Fantin-Latour and Etchings by Egusquiza; Reproductions of Paintings and Drawings by D. G. Rossetti; Portraits, Caricatures and Reproductions of Drawings by Victor Hugo; American Wood Engravings; Etchings and Lithographs by Millet, Rousseau and Daubigny; and Arundel Society Color Prints.

Mr. S. P. Avery has added largely to his collection of modern works. Among other donations were: Charles Stewart Smith, Brinkley collection of Japanese color prints; J. D. Smillie, 628 impressions from plates by James Smillie; Alexander Maitland, collection of Dutch caricatures, portraits and other prints relating to the Mississippi bubble; C. B. Curtis, engravings after Raphael; William F. Havemeyer, H. R. Storer, E. Bierstadt, F. Sheldon and Frederick Keppel, modern etchings by American and other artists; Howard Mansfield, over fifty etchings by Stoom van Gravesande; John Durand, ninety drawings by A. B. Durand.

The combined gifts of the Century Company, Charles Scribner's Sons and T. D. Sugden make a fine collection of American wood engravings. Leroy M. Yale, E. D. French, R. Swain Gifford, Henry Wolf and George H. Boughton have given examples of their work.

A "Handbook of the S. P. Avery Collection of Prints and Art Books in the New York Public Library" has been prepared by the Curator, and is for sale. The Curator also compiled a "Catalogue of a Collection of Engravings, Etchings and Lithographs by Women," published by the Grolier Club, when that collection was exhibited in the New York Public Library.

NEW YORK SOCIETY OF KERAMIC ARTS.

MRS. L. VANCE PHILLIPS, President.

ALFRED STIEGLITZ, Director.

This organization is devoted exclusively to pictorial photography as a means of original artistic expression. Many camera clubs are interested in the art movement in photography, but their interest is an incidental one. The Photo-Secession has been exceedingly active, and has been recognized as practically representative of the so called New School of American Photography. Through its exhibitions it has proven the justness of the claims of American pictorial photography to serious consideration by the art world. There are twenty-eight members, residing in various parts of the country.

The organization was represented by exhibits at Philadelphia, 1900 (the last of the regular salons there held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts); Chicago, 1900, 1902, 1903; National Arts Club, New York, 1902; San Francisco, 1903; Glasgow International Decorative and Fine Arts Exhibition, 1902; Toronto, 1903; Paris, 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903; St. Petersburg, Russia, 1903; Hamburg and Wiesbaden, 1903. It also took part at the Turin, Italy, International Decorative Art Exhibition, 1902, where it carried off the King's prize, awarded to Alfred Stieglitz, director, for the American collection sent by the Photo-Secession, and a large number of medals for individual exhibits. The collection was brought together at the request of General di Cesnola, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and American Commissioner for the Turin Exhibition.

The organization publishes "The Photo-Secession," an intermittent leaflet. (The names and addresses of the members are entered in the Directory of Workers in Applied Arts.)

The annual meeting is held the first Thursday in April (April 7, 1904), and the autumn meeting the last Tuesday in November (November 24, 1903). Board of Control meets on second Tuesday.

Annual exhibitions are held in April; the next, the twenty-sixth, will be held at the Fine Arts Building, 215 West Fifty-seventh street, from March 27 to May 1, 1904, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. and 8 to 10 p. m. week days; Sundays, 12 m. to 5 p. m. Admission, 50 cents.

In 1901 the Shaw Fund was withdrawn, and in its place Mr. Shaw founded the Shaw Prize of $300, to be given annually for the best figure composition in the exhibition, painted in oil by an American citizen and the property of the painter, portraits to be excluded. It was given by a vote of all the members present on Varnishing Day. In 1902 the Shaw Fund ($1,500 for the purchase of one or more works by American artists) was re-established. The Julia A. Shaw Memorial Prize of $300 was instituted in 1902. It is awarded by a jury for the best work of art by an American woman.

An annual prize of $500 has been instituted by Andrew Carnegie, to be awarded by a jury, for the best oil painting by an American artist, portraits excepted, the picture to be the property of the artist. The same artist may not receive the prize in two successive years, and not more than twice in all.

Prizes for the past three years were awarded as follows:

Webb Prize ($300).—1901, to Ben Foster, for "Mists of the Morning"; 1902, H. Bolton Jones, "Early Spring"; 1903, Louis Loeb, "Dawn."

The Society was chartered April 12, 1902, the object being the exhibition, purchase and sale of American works of art. The city of Philadelphia has made a grant of $2,500 a year to the Society, and the State of Pennsylvania a like amount.

The cost of membership is $10 yearly; there are over 100 organization members, and the limit is 200.

Artist members and stockholders of the Society have the right to exhibit three pictures at each exhibition, and can submit others to the jury. Members can arrange for special exhibitions.

The first exhibition, lasting a month, was given at the Earle Gallery in October, 1902. Thirty-four pictures were sold, aggregating $14,200. The attendance was 40,000. Awards consisted of one gold and one silver medal for sculpture, and twenty-two gold, twenty silver, twelve bronze medals and fourteen honorable mentions for painting.

The next exhibition will be held in December, 1903, at the Rosenbach watercolor, and will consist of unframed water colors. An exhibition of oil paintings will be held at the same place in January, 1904, to last one month or longer. At the latter a prize of $300 will be awarded for the best picture, the amount to apply on the purchase should the Society decide to buy it for the Permanent Collection; gold, silver and bronze medals for the best landscape; gold, silver and bronze medals for the best portraits or figure pieces.

The Fairmount Park Art Association, founded in 1871 and incorporated in 1872, is a society of men, women and children who contribute to funds with which to purchase works of art for the adornment of Fairmount Park and the city of Philadelphia. In 1888 a "City" branch for the adornment of city streets and parks was established. Annual members pay $5 yearly to either the Park or City Branch. Those who desire to contribute to both funds pay $10 per annum. The funds are kept entirely separate, Park funds being expended for works of art for Fairmount Park, and City funds for works of art for the city. All contributions for Life and Perpetual Memberships and 10 per cent of the annual are placed in the Permanent Endowment Funds, which are to be kept inviolate. When each fund aggregates $100,000 the income alone will be used. The Park branch has 1,006 members, the City branch 259, making a total of 1,265.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Association was held December 18, 1902. At this meeting Albert Kelsey gave an address on "Parkways and Monumental Thoroughfares." The report states that the work in hand includes the casting of the colossal equestrian group, "The Amazon," by Kiss, and the erection of the equestrian statue, "The Medicine Man" (bronze), by Cyrus E. Dallin. The monument in memory of Pennsylvanians who took part in the Civil War is in the hands of the sculptors, and will consist of fifteen examples of sculpture; Charles Grafly's colossal statue of General Reynolds for the monument has been completed in bronze, and the full sized model of Moses Ezekiel's colossal bust of Governor Curtin has been accepted; the equestrian statues of General Hancock by J. Q. A. Ward, and of General McClellan by Paul Bartlett, as well as the eagles and globes by J. Massey Rhind, are well advanced. The memorial was provided for by the will of Richard Smith, who bequeathed $500,000 for the purpose, and stipulated that it be erected under the auspices of the Association.

It was decided that the memorial to President McKinley shall include a portrait statue with a suitable architectural setting. The sum of $30,000 was raised by subscription, and a competition for a design opened to all sculptors. The date for the reception of the designs was fixed as February 1, 1903.

In March, 1902, the Association was requested by Burnham, Williams & Co. (proprietors of the Baldwin Locomotive Works) to supervise the erection of a statue to Matthias W. Baldwin, founder of the Locomotive Works. The trust was accepted and a competition arranged. As a result the commission was awarded to Herbert Adams, and it is expected that the statue will be completed and placed in position before the close of 1904.

The report dated October 31, 1902, makes the following financial statement:

Permanent Fund, Park Branch.....	$95,147.83
Permanent Fund, City Branch.....	5,918.83
Cash in bank.....	24,377.13
*Investments, F. P. A. A.....	87,050.00

*This includes the following funds: McClellan Memorial, Lafayette Memorial, Fountain, Ericsson Memorial, Childs-Drexel Memorial and Children's Art Brigade.

The Endowment Fund has received an additional gift of $3,000 from Mrs. Joseph W. Drexel.

Under the wills of Emlen Cresson, who died in 1889, and of his wife, Priscilla Pritchett Cresson, who died in 1901, their entire residuary estates were left to endow "The William Emlen Cresson Prize Memorial Fund," to be used for scholarships for travel and study abroad. Five foreign scholarships were awarded in May, 1903, each of $1,000 a year for two years, with a third year at the option of the committee. It is expected that the fund will yield sufficient for twelve or fifteen scholarships of $1,000 each annually.

The Jennie Sesnan prize of $100 was founded in 1902 by Elizabeth Wentworth Roberts, in memory of her mother, and was named after her favorite model.

In the year 1902 Henry J. Thouron established a fund of $3,250 for the perpetuation of three annual prizes in composition in the Academy schools. These prizes became available at the close of the school year 1903.

During that year a School of Architecture was established as a branch of the Academy schools. The aim of this school is to afford instruction in advanced design to those who have gained proficiency in one of the established schools of architecture, with certain experience as draughtsmen in actual service.

The work of the schools is being sent to other cities for exhibition.

Sixty free scholarships are awarded in the Academy schools to pupils of the public schools of Philadelphia, under an agreement with the City Councils and the Board of Public Education, from whom the Academy schools receive an annual appropriation of $5,000.

Some important acquisitions during the past three years were:

Purchases, 1900-1901.—"Nicodemus," by Henry O. Tanner; "The Café," by John W. Alexander; "Portrait of Hon. Alexander J. Dallas" and "Portrait of President James Monroe," by Gilbert Stuart; "Portrait of a Lady," by G. Schalcken; "Cardinal Manning" (pastel), by John McLure Hamilton.

1901-1902.—Oil paintings, "The Skaters," by Gari Melchers; "Sheep Pasture," by Henry W. Ranger; "Winter Morning After Snow," by Charles Morris Young, and "The Seine at Paris," by Edward W. Redfield. A number of plaster casts were added to the collection.

1902-1903.—"Cat Boats, Newport," by Childe Hassam; "Twilight on the Seine," by Charles François Daubigny; "River Seine, South of France," by J. B. C. Corot.

Gifts, 1900-1901.—"Portrait of a Lady," attributed to Sir Godfrey Kneller, presented by George H. Earle, Jr.; "Richard Vaux" (pastel), by John McLure Hamilton, presented by the artist; "The Musical Party," attributed to Jan Steen, bequeathed by Alfred Stillé, M. D.; "Port Ben, Delaware and Hudson Canal," by Theodore Robinson, presented by the Society of American Artists.

1901-1902.—Two portraits in oils of Abram Kintzing and Mary Kintzing, attributed to Gilbert Stuart, bequeathed by Ella Kintzing Birkhead.

1902-1903.—"Recumbent Figure" (marble), by Augustus Rodin, presented by Alexander Harrison; the following oil paintings from the estate of Francis W. Lewis, M. D.: "River Seine, South of France," by J. B. C. Corot; "Twilight on the Seine," by Charles François Daubigny; "View of the Grand Canal, Venice," by Felix Ziem; "Snow Scene," by Ludwig Munthe, and "Landscape, France," by Emile Lambinet; also a water color, "Study of a Cobbler," by T. Offerman, bequeathed by Priscilla P. Cresson; "Falstaff," oil painting by William Emlen Cresson; "The Enchanted Princess," oil painting by William P. Cresson; "Portrait of Richard Peters, Jr.," oil painting by Rembrandt Peale, bequeathed by Eliza W. S. P. Field.

Dalton Dorr, for twenty years Secretary of this corporation and Curator of the Museum, died on February 9, 1901, and Edwin AtLee Barber was elected to fill his place.

During the past three years the building has been renovated at a cost of $30,000, appropriated by the City Councils. Extensive and valuable additions to the collections have been made. While the general collections of the Museum are representative of the industrial arts of different times and countries, a special effort is being made to illustrate the history of American art, a large collection of American pottery and porcelain being already accumulated.

The attendance during the year 1902 numbered 457,617.

The Museum has undertaken the publication of a series of Art Handbooks, the first of which, "Tulip Ware of the Pennsylvania-German Potters," has recently been issued. A series of art booklets on subjects germane to the Museum will also be published.

ARCHITECTURAL SOCIETY.

CHARLES F. OWSLEY,
President.

EDWARD S. PALMER,
Vice-President.

GEORGE HOWARD BICKLEY,
Treasurer.

WILLIAM JONES SMITH,
Secretary.

The object of the Society is to further the educational effectiveness of the School of Architecture, to unite the students in common interest and good fellowship, to provide lectures and to hold competitions.

The corps of instructors in architecture and graduate students are honorary members. Active membership is bestowed upon students of recognized ability as a mark of distinction. There are thirty-eight in this class.

Competitive problems for 1902-1903 were as follows: "A Boat House on a Lake," first mention, G. H. Bickley; "A Certificate of Membership for the Architectural Society," first mention, M. S. Schaumberg; "A Memorial Gateway for the Class of 1903," first mention, S. Clarke; "A Garden for a Semi-Suburban Residence," first mention, G. H. Bickley; "A City Fire House," first mention, H. A. Millis.

A smoker was held in March, 1903, for the alumni, faculty and undergraduates of the department, at which time a musical comedy entitled "The Visiting Critic," was presented by a few members of the Society. This comedy was repeated by request before the T Square Club of Philadelphia, and a third time before the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania.

Founder's Day has been celebrated annually on the first Thursday in November, and has been made the occasion of the opening of the annual exhibitions.

On the 12th of November, 1901, Mr. Carnegie increased the endowment fund to $2,000,000, thereby giving for the maintenance of the two departments of the Institute, namely the Department of Fine Arts and the Museum, $100,000 annually. The trustees still hold Mr. Carnegie's authority to enlarge the building at a cost of $5,000,000, but pending litigation concerning the site prevents active work.

The total attendance at the loan exhibition of 1902 was 138,172, an average of 17,271 for each week of the period.

Five special lines of activity were carried on during 1902-1903: The formation and presentation of the loan exhibition of 1902, with the compilation and publication of its catalogue; the preparation of the set of photographs of the Institute's collection of paintings for circulation in the city public schools; the accessioning of the year's consignments of Mr. Carnegie's gift of bronze reproductions of antique sculpture; the revision and compilation of the department's records, and the acquisition of a representative collection of photographs of the works of American sculptors, with a view to the selection of the works for the sculptural halls in the Institute's addition to the Library Building.

ACQUISITIONS.

Purchased from Fifth Annual Exhibition 1900: "The Beach at Trouville," by Eugene Boudin; "The Green Bridge at Rome," by Camille Pissarro; "Anticassus and Nicolette," by Marius Stokess; "The Wild Hunt," by Franz Snack. Other works purchased during the year were "A Woman in Pink," a portrait by John W. Alexander, and "The Keeper of the Threshold," by Eliza Vedder.

Purchased from the annual exhibition of 1901 "The Penance of Eleanor Duchess of Gloucester," by Edwin A. Abbey. A marble by Paul Jean Clys entitled "Bassin de Commerce, Anvers," gift of James E. Laughlin, Jr., of Pittsburg; 110 bronze reproductions of objects found upon the sites of Pompeii, Herculaneum and Stabia, the gift of Andrew Carnegie; a portrait bust of Charles Robert Darwin by George Morrison, also from Mr. Carnegie.

Paintings purchased in 1902: "Une Matinée dans le Dauphiné," by Henri Harpignies; "Le Paysage et les Vaches," by Anton Mauve; "The Fountain of Youth," by Adolphe Monticelli; 142 bronzes were added to Mr. Carnegie's gift of 1901.

BERKSHIRE ATHENÆUM MUSEUM.

Park Square, Pittsfield, Mass.

A Museum of Art and Natural History, founded during the past year by Zenas Crane and opened in April, 1903. Mr. Crane erected the building, installed in it his own collections and turned the deed over to the Berkshire Athenæum, which operates under a charter granted in 1871. The gift is valued at $100,000, of which about $30,000 represents the cost of the collection.

The art gallery already contains some good paintings, among them "The Two Sisters," by Bouguereau, presented by Ex-Governor W. Murray Crane; "Ye Maiden's Reverie," by Douglas Volk; a portrait by Sir Joshua Reynolds; Haquette's marine, "The Last Return"; "The Building of the Tower of Babel," by Bassano; "Giant Redwoods of California," by Bierstadt; and an example of early Flemish art, "Joseph and His Brethren."

One room is devoted to sculpture, and is decorated at one end with a cast of the west frieze of the Parthenon, and at the other with the Cantorio frieze.

There is also a collection of antiquities—ancient glassware, Greek and Roman bronzes, Tanagra figures and clay tablets from Babylon.

AMERICAN ACADEMY IN ROME.

Villa dell' Aurora, Rome, Italy.

(For foundation and history see Vol. II, p. 38.)

Originally incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, it is now being reincorporated by Act of Congress in a bill introduced during 1902 by Senator McMillan. The Academy was founded and maintained by members of the American Institute of Architects and their friends in order that serious students of art, and particularly of architecture, might find example and precedent to fit them for the solution of monumental problems.

The Trustees of the American Academy in Rome have taken steps toward securing an endowment fund of $1,000,000, sufficient to place our Academy on a par with that of the French Academy in Rome and those of the other countries. In 1901 the Secretary of State of the United States authorized the Ambassador at Rome to accept the position of Trustee, ex-officio, of the Academy, and directed him to secure for it "all the privileges and exemptions that are accorded by the Italian Government to like institution in other countries." The Academy is therefore legally established and competent to receive and hold any moneys that may be donated.

DEPARTMENT OF ART.

HALSEY C. IVES, Chief.

CHARLES M. KURTZ, Assistant Chief.

The Art Palace (see illustration) comprises four massive structures, the aggregate length of which is 830 feet, and the depth 450 feet. It is to cost over $1,000,000. The central building, of brick and stone, will remain after the Exposition as a memorial of it. The buildings at each end, and the Sculpture pavilion on the south, will be of brick ornamented with staff. The interior of the quadrangle will be laid out as a garden with fountains, flowers, ornamental shrubs and statuary. The architect of the three larger structures is Cass Gilbert, of New York. The architect of the Sculpture pavilion is E. L. Masqueray, Chief of Design of the Exposition. The pavilion is 150 feet long by 100 feet wide, its plan being rectangular, with an exedra or semi-circular bay at the east and west ends. All the exhibits will be on one floor. There will be 136 galleries and a great International Sculpture Court with special galleries and alcoves.

The Exposition authorities adopted a classification in which is involved a recognition of the fact that there should be no distinction between what commonly has been considered as "fine art" and that which has been termed "industrial art."

The Department of Art will consist of:

1. An American (United States) section.
2. A section for each foreign country which is represented by a Government Commission or by a National Committee.
3. A section comprising exhibits from private collections, and the works of artists of non-represented foreign countries, whose works may be admitted under the provisions of Section VIII.

There will be two general divisions, contemporaneous and retrospective. Works in the Contemporaneous Division will be such as have been produced since 1892—the close of the period covered by the contemporaneous exhibit of the Chicago Exposition of 1893. All works in the Contemporaneous Division are eligible to compete for awards. The Retrospective Division will include works produced between 1803 and 1892—or the production of artists who lived within this period whose works influenced the development of the art of the past century. In the United States section the division devoted to especially interesting works borrowed from institutions and private owners will cover periods other than the above.

The distinction between art objects eligible for exhibition in the Department of Art, and those which may be shown in the Departments of Manufactures and Liberal Arts, lies in the fact that in the former art must be the predominating feature and the object must be the original work of the artist and not a reproduction by another hand or the result of any mechanical process.

CASS GILBERT, ARCHITECT.

Special galleries will be provided for the installation of models of buildings, sculptural decorations, mural paintings, wood carvings, pyrographic designs, mosaics, leaded and mosaic glass, etc., and as an illustration of the breadth of interpretation of the classification any structures erected upon the Exposition grounds, and also their sculptural, pictorial, decorative or other artistic details, severally may be entered in competition for such awards as may be conferred by the Exposition authorities, provided of course such structures or decorative details be accepted as exhibits by the proper jury of selection. It is to be understood also, in all cases, that the honors accorded at this Exposition are to be given the men who actually do the work, and not to the firms employing such men. The firm in such case may receive credit as the exhibitor and may receive an award for its assemblage of exhibits, though this award would come from another department than that of art.

American (United States) artists must deposit or cause to be deposited with the Chief of the Department of Art before December 1, 1903, a list signed by them of such works as they desire to exhibit. A separate list should be made for each group and class, strictly following the schedule.

Works of American (United States) artists intended for the Contemporaneous Division, which have been produced since 1892, and which have passed the examination of juries of exhibitions of acknowledged standing, will be admitted "on list" should the authorities of this department so determine. An examination of lists will be made at an early date after December 1, 1903. Artists whose works may be admitted under these conditions will be informed at once by the Chief of the Department of Art. Works accepted must be delivered at the receiving gate of the building of the Department of Art on or before March 1, 1904.

In order that the interests of American artists as well as the interests of the Department of Art properly may be cared for, there have been established advisory committees in those parts of this country and Europe which are the principal centres of American artistic activity.

Members of advisory committees will form the nuclei of the juries of selection for such groups in the classification as may be especially important in those sections of this country and Europe wherein such committees respectively are located. The juries of selection will include representatives of each of the several advisory committees in the country.

Where necessary to give jury representation for any phase of artistic effort coming within the classification, but of which there is no exponent in the personnel of the Advisory Committee, an artist, not a member of the Advisory Committee, who represents the phase of work in question, may be added to the jury, but such person must be selected by or with the approval of the authorities of the Department of Art.

The Chief and Assistant Chief of the Department of Art shall be ex-officio members of all juries of selection in the American Art section.

Each jury will be instructed in making its selections, to classify the same as first, second and third in degree of excellence.

In St. Louis there will be no jury revision as to the quality of works of art accepted for exhibition by the regular juries of selection. In this particular the decisions of the juries of selection will be final. But in case the juries should accept more works than can be installed with advantage in the section set apart for American exhibits, then of necessity a selection of works to be installed will be made in accordance with the order of merit designated by the juries. All works passed as "No. 1" will be provided for first, and works designated "2" and "3" respectively will be taken care of in so far as the space available may permit.

DEPARTMENT OF SCULPTURE.

KARL T. F. BITTER, Chief.

The appropriation for this department is half a million dollars, of which about $100,000 is for permanent work. The general scheme is designed to symbolize the history, local color and allegory of the Louisiana Territory by representing the four successive occupants of the soil: First, the wild animals; second, the Indians; third, the discoverers and pioneers, and fourth, the advanced races—French, Spanish and American—which have built up its present state of civilization. The sculpture will symbolize activities rather than actors; hence portraiture will be only moderately employed. The figures throughout will be of heroic cast, in harmony with the size of the grounds, courts, buildings and open spaces. As there will be some 250 groups of sculpture and over 1,000 single figures, Mr. Bitter has given commissions to nearly every sculptor of ability in the country.

ART WORKERS' GUILD.

St. Paul, Minn.

A session and convention of the American League for Civic Improvement was held in the rooms of the Guild on September 26, 1902.

The Guild is one of the societies that assist in preparing the list from which the State Legislature selects the officers of the Minneapolis Art Society.

PRESIDENT OF STATE UNIVERSITY,
(Ex-Officio).

WILLIAM YOUNGBAUER (Wood
Carver, Manufacturer of Furniture, Connoisseur).

The officers were elected July 14, 1903.

The State Legislature of Minnesota at its last session passed a law creating a State Art Society, and granting an annual appropriation of $2,000 to carry on its work. The work of the Society consists of arranging exhibitions and lectures on art and kindred topics in different parts of the State, and encouraging the arts and crafts and the fine arts.

The Society is to be managed by a governing board of nine members, seven to be appointed by the Chief Executive of the State with the consent of the Senate, from lists prepared by the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts, the Art Workers' Guild of St. Paul and the Art Committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs. Of the appointees four shall be artists or connoisseurs of art, one an architect, one a prominent educator, and one directly interested in manufacture. The Governor and the President of the State University are to be ex-officio members.

At the exhibitions prizes are to be awarded and works bought for a permanent collection. The Governing Board also has power to decide the acceptability of works of art to be acquired by the State.

The Society is modelled after the Utah Art Institute, Minnesota thus becoming the second State to incorporate a State art society.

SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS.

Trenton, N. J.

HENRY MCBRIDE, Director.

The annual exhibitions occur the last three days in May, and minor exhibits are held every month.

The city of Trenton received, as a bequest of Mrs. Alice Maddock, her collection of china, one of the most comprehensive collections of blue and white china of the period contemporary with the Revolutionary War. It was transferred to the custody of the School in February, 1903, where it will form the nucleus of a ceramic museum. The collection will be exhibited to the public in the autumn of 1903.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION OF MODERN DECORATIVE ART.
Turin, Italy.

GEN. L. P. DI CESNOLA,
President.

LUIGI ROVERSI,
Secretary.

The first International Exposition of Modern Decorative Art was held in Turin, Italy, from May to November, 1902. The American gallery, after that of Germany, was the largest in the Exposition Building and one of the most complete and original. The architect was John Getz, of New York. The funds for the American exhibit were provided by the commissioners and their personal friends.

The American exhibitors received the most important awards, among them being that of King Victor Emmanuel (the only prize offered by Italy's sovereign to the Exposition), which was obtained by the Photo-Secession.

The exhibit of Tiffany & Co. of goldware, silverware and mounted Favril glass, of precious stones, etc., arranged by George F. Kunz, would undoubtedly have received the Grand Prix had it not been ruled hors concours by the jury. Bronzes of Paul W. Bartlett, Rookwood pottery, Grueby pottery, prints of Curtis & Cameron, "martelé" silver of the Gorham Company, stained glass of J. & R. Lamb, and the collective exhibit of Scribner's Sons received warm praise.

The last annual meeting was held September, 1903.

By an act of the Legislature of Utah, approved March 9, 1899, the Utah Art Institute was created. (This was the first State Art Society created in the United States. A copy of the law creating the Institute will be sent free to any address on application to the Secretary.) The act provides that the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, appoint a Governing Board, consisting of seven members, four of whom are to be artists, one an architect, one prominently identified with State education, and one directly interested in the manufacture of silk or other art fabric. It provides for the following work: For an art collection, to be known as the Alice Art Collection; for an annual art exhibition of both the fine arts and the applied arts, not to be held in the same city twice in succession; for an annual prize of $300, to be offered by the State, for the best original painting by a Utah resident artist, the painting to become the property of the Art Institute; and that the art collection in whole or in part may be loaned to different parts of the State. Also for an annual course of lectures on art to be prepared by a committee, and to be delivered in whole or in part before the students of the Agricultural College, any branch college, the University of Utah, Southern Branch Normal, the Industrial School, the State Teachers' Association and the county teachers' institute of each county; the Art Lectureship Committee is to advise with officers of State educational institutions and superintendents of public schools as to courses in drawing, design and art.

Regular meetings are held quarterly, on the first Monday in March, June, September and December of each year.

The first annual exhibition was held in Salt Lake City in 1899. In addition to the prize awarded by the State, seventeen minor prizes were offered, ranging from $3 to $40.

The second exhibition was held at Logan from November 12 to 17, 1900, and consisted of 200 pieces. About 6,000 people attended. The State prize, $300, was awarded to Mr. John Hafen for "Quaking Aspens"; honorable mention for the best work of art to George H. Taggart, for "Harvesters"; prize of $50 for best water color to G. Wesley Browning for "Under the Willows"; honorable mention to H. L. A. Culmer for "October Evening." Eight prizes of from $5 to $20 were also awarded. During the week lectures on art were given at the Art Gallery, at Agricultural College and before the County Teachers' Institute.

Other exhibitions were held as follows: November 25 to December 7, 1901, at Social Hall, in Salt Lake City; September 15, 1902, at Provo City, and one in March, 1903. The next exhibition will be in December, 1903.

The bi-annual report, dated December 1, 1900, stated that during the two years thirty-one lectures on the fine and applied arts were given, many of them illustrated by stereopticon views. A lecture on "Silk Making Culture and Lace" and one on "Art as a Factor in Public Education" have been printed and distributed free.

The paintings acquired during the two years were: "Children of the Sun," G. M. Ottinger; "Salt-Created Rocks, Great Salt Lake," J. T. Harwood; "Road Through the Forest," Mrs. E. C. Carson; "Priscilla," J. T. Harwood; "Quaking Aspens," John Hafen; "French Peasant, Knitting," Mary Teasdel; "Under the Willows," G. Wesley Browning. The value of the collection is estimated at $2,000.

Of special note is the accession by purchase of a collection of 1,800 prints, mostly portraits, representing the work of American engravers, and a collection of 153 medals of representative men of France. Several collections have been loaned to the Library, as follows: 1,466 selected prints of all schools, lent by George Lothrop Bradley; cuttings from illuminated manuscripts of the twelfth to fifteenth century, by Thomas F. Richardson; selections from a collection of 50,000 prints, owned by Mrs. T. Garrison Garrett, John W. Garrett and Robert Garrett.

On July 1, 1903, the collection numbered over 143,000 items. Since the last report of the AMERICAN ART ANNUAL was published Sunday opening has been inaugurated.

THE PARK COMMISSION FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

COMMISSIONERS.

D. H. BURNHAM,
CHARLES F. MCKIM,

AUGUSTUS SAINT GAUDENS,
FREDERICK LAW OLNSTED, JR.

Acting upon the advice of a Committee of the American Institute of Architects, the Senate Committee of the District of Columbia, Senator McMillan of Michigan Chairman, appointed D. H. Burnham and F. L. Olmsted, Jr., a commission to study and report on the improvements from an artistic standpoint of the District of Columbia. Mr. Burnham and Mr. Olmsted added Mr. Charles F. McKim and Mr. Augustus Saint Gaudens to their number. The report of this Commission was submitted to the Senate Committee of the District of Columbia on January 15, 1902, and was unanimously approved by the Committee. The drawings and models accompanying this report filled two large rooms in the Corcoran Gallery of Art, and graphically presented the scheme. In addition to these original drawings there were numerous bromide enlargements of photographs of vistas, parkways, fountains and other park embellishments illustrating work of a similar character done in this country and Europe. The principal subject for illustration was the treatment of the Mall, beginning with the Capitol on the east, ending with the river on the west, the White House on the north and the Memorial to the Constitution Makers on the south. The principles of this scheme are simply a development of the original plan of the city as designed by Peter Charles L'Enfant, which has been totally ignored for more than seventy-five years. It maintains all of the original vistas intended and other vistas are added. Beginning with the Capitol there is a broad, open vista 300 feet wide extending from the Capitol to the Monument, this vista flanked on each side by four rows of stately American elms and the open portion treated as a lawn. From the Monument west toward the river is a broad lagoon over 200 feet wide. At the foot of the Capitol grounds it is proposed to have an open square flanked by statues, buildings and other artistic embellishments. The space around the Monument is treated by broad terraces 1,200 feet wide and formal gardens with a broad flight of steps 40 feet high. The extreme western vista is to culminate with a memorial to Abraham Lincoln in the form of an open portico. From this Lincoln memorial a memorial bridge is to pass directly to Arlington, with Arlington House at the end of the vista, and in another direction a drive would pass into the park system of the District of Columbia. The vista from the south portico of the White House will be over broad lawns from the Monument Gardens to the river, from which point a view extends 10 or 12 miles down the Potomac. On the axis of the White House on the shore of the river it is proposed to place a monumental building to the Constitution makers; on the other side of the Park monumental buildings are suggested for the future use of the Government. The suggestions were made also in this report for a treatment of the Palisades of the Potomac, of the banks of Rock Creek and for additions to the Zoo and Rock Creek Park, connecting them all with the system of parks by highways which will connect the parks with the Soldiers' Home and a new proposed water power on the eastern branch, thence to the Navy Yard, to the new War College Park, and back by terraced drives to the Mall, completing a circuit of the city.

The work which has already been accomplished under the laws proposed by the Park Commission is the removal of the Pennsylvania Station from the Mall and its location, as proposed by the Park Commission, at the intersection of Massachusetts and Delaware avenues; the location of the new Agricultural Building, of the new National Museum and of the new Municipal Building within the area indicated by the Park Commission for Municipal Buildings; placing of the Hall of Records and the new Office Building for the House of Representatives on sites suggested for Government buildings by the Park Commission; and the improvements of the White House on lines in harmony with the Commission's report.

Vice-Presidents.

GLENN BROWN, Treasurer and Secretary.

(For foundation and history see Vol. I, p. 408.)

This is a national organization, with Chapters in many States. It is also in correspondence with forty-six foreign societies. The membership numbers 777, consisting of 381 Fellows and 396 Associates. In 1902 the Octagon House, Washington, D. C., an old building with many historic associations, was purchased for $30,000, and is now the home of the Society. One of the rooms has been fitted up as a library, and here are kept numerous publications of interest to the profession. Among these are the building and municipal regulations of several large cities in Europe. Some donations recently placed in the Octagon consist of the American Architectural Exhibit at the Paris Exposition, including ninety-eight photographic examples of recent work in the United States; plaster ornaments and mouldings from the United States Supreme Court, and views of Washington and vicinity.

During the past three years the Institute has given much attention to improving the park system and public buildings in Washington, and a committee was formed in 1900. (For full account of this Commission see p. 259.)

Papers on the improvement of Washington read before the A. I. A. were printed and distributed by the Government, and a lecture with lantern slides has been prepared, showing the proposed scheme, and has been sent to many large cities throughout the country; while lectures on the subject have been delivered in various places by A. I. A. members. The Institute has also been consulted by several Government departments relative to architectural work.

An idea may be formed of the scope of the Society by noting the work of the various committees. These are as follows: Judiciary; House and Library; Education and Publication; on Foreign Correspondence; on Contracts and Lien Laws; on Applied Arts and Sciences; Legislative Committee of Government Architecture; Conference with Architectural League on Competition Codes and Co-operation; on Competitions; on Improvement of Washington; on a Fine Arts Commission and Bureau of Architecture; on Municipal Improvement; on World's Congress; on Metric System; to Nominate Officers; on Nomination for Honorary and Corresponding Members; for Securing Funds for the Purchase of the Octagon.

As a result of correspondence with Rudolph Vogel, Hanover, that gentleman began, in 1900, to organize a German Institute based on the methods of the A. I. A.

A Quarterly Bulletin is issued, giving a list of new publications received and current events of interest to the members.

The thirty-seventh annual convention will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, October 15 to 17, 1903.

Corresponding Secretary.
E. G. RUTZAEN,
Field Secretary.

5711 Kimbark Ave., Chicago.

The American League for Civic Improvement was formed about three years ago, and is an expansion of the National League of Improvement Associations, which had organized in Springfield, Ohio, some ten months previous. The purpose of the League is to act as a clearing house for the societies interested in the various phases of civic and social improvement, to supplement the efforts of existing organizations both local and general. It offers lectures, speakers, lantern slides, program outlines and study material, printed matter for educational purposes and campaigns of agitation, reference to sources of information, and plans for organization.

There are four classes of membership: Individual members; societies; honorary members, who are nominated by the Executive Board and elected at the annual convention; commercial members, which membership is issued to firms or individuals. The last classification has been included for those who are financially interested in the movement, such as landscape gardeners, manufacturers, etc. Through the League commercial members may learn how to further the movement, better the conditions of their employees, reach organizations and individuals interested in improvement and cultivate local organizations.

The work of the League is divided into sections. These are: Arts and Crafts, Civic Church, Libraries and Museums, Municipal Art, Municipal Reform, Parks, Preservation of Nature, Public Nuisances, Public Recreation, Rural Improvement, Sanitation, School Extension, Social Settlements and Village Improvement.

Communications addressed to the managers of 125 summer assemblies have awakened much interest; as a most important result a model summer city is being developed at Champlain, N. Y., the cornerstone of which was laid in August, 1903. This work is under the direction of the chairman of the Municipal Art Section, Albert Keiser.

Copy has been sent to thousands of newspapers and periodicals and in the first six months of 1903 the field secretary spoke to over 300 improvement associations.

The first annual convention of the League was held at Buffalo, N. Y., from August 12 to 15, 1901; the second at St. Paul, Minn., September 24 to 26, 1902; the third at Champlain, N. Y., July 13 to July 21, 1903.

In connection with the third annual convention a Civic Institute was conducted at Champlain, N. Y. For an entire week students and workers in the field of civic improvement were offered a program of lectures and conferences, under the guidance of some of the chief leaders in civic improvement, which gave for the first time a complete survey of the principles, achievements and hopes of this great movement. The principal lectures were the series on "Art in Daily Life," by Prof. John Quincy Adams, of Philadelphia, and "Contemporary Society," by Prof. Charles Zueblin, of the University of Chicago.

The fourth annual convention will be held in St. Louis in the summer of 1904.

ARTS AND CRAFTS SECTION.

MRS. M. F. JOHNSTON, Richmond, Ind., Chaiman.

This section has served as a bureau of information on the subject of Arts and Crafts, particularly regarding securing and managing Arts and Crafts exhibitions.

The Council has in preparation a classified list of Arts and Crafts workers, suggestive outlines for Club programs with bibliography and information about the management of exhibitions. This material can be obtained by addressing the Secretary of the League.

CHARLES MULFORD ROBINSON,
Secretary,
65 S. Washington St.,
Rochester, N. Y.

(For foundation and history see Vol. III, p. 202.)

A Woman's Auxiliary has been formed, of which Mrs. Charles F. Millspaugh, of Chicago, is president.

The sixth annual convention was held in Boston, August 5 to 7, 1902.

The seventh annual convention was held in Buffalo July 7 to 9, 1903. The President's address reviewed the most significant developments in municipal progress, special mention being given to the activity of business organizations in Cleveland and San Francisco, the enlarged use of school-houses for civic purposes, the agitation for courses of training in city making, the projected remodeling of Chautauqua, and the erection of a model city exhibit at the St. Louis Fair. Among the papers of special interest were "The Abuses of Public Advertising," by Frederick Law Olmsted; "Parks for the People," by G. S. Parker, and "The Forward Movement in Outdoor Art," by Professor L. H. Bailey. One evening was devoted to a School Garden Session.

The Association is considering a merger with the American League for Civic Improvement, and the committee having that matter in hand was enlarged and continued.

THE AMERICAN SCENIC AND HISTORIC PRESERVATION SOCIETY.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN,
Vice-Presidents.

EDWARD PAYSON CONE,
Treasurer.

EDWARD HAGAMAN HALL,
Secretary,
Tribune Bldg., New York.

SAMUEL PARSONS, JR.,
Landscape Architect.

The Society is a national organization, incorporated in 1895. It aims to protect beautiful features of the landscape from disfigurement; to preserve from destruction remarkable geological formations and organic growths possessing an artistic value; and to save from obliteration names, places and objects identified with local, State and national history. It furthers these objects by free lectures, literature, correspondence and other educational means.

The Society has three classes of membership. Any person may become an annual member upon election and the payment of $5 annually; a life member upon the payment of $100 at one time, and a patron upon the donation of $500. At least four meetings are held during the year, at which lectures are delivered by well known speakers and to which members and their friends are admitted without charge. The members also receive gratuitously, from time to time, copies of historical brochures of great value.

In 1897, at the instance of the Society, the State of New York purchased 33 acres of the historic Stony Point battlefield on the Hudson and committed it to the custody of the Society, and in 1900 the State placed $3,500 at its disposal for the improvement of the property, and this Reservation was dedicated at a public meeting held July 16, 1902. In 1898 and 1900, at the request of this Society and other agencies, the State purchased 35 acres at the head of Lake George made famous by events during the French and Indian and Revolutionary wars. In 1900 a commission from the Society represented the State of New York, in conjunction with a commission from New Jersey, and secured the creation of the Interstate Palisades Park Commission. $400,000 has been appropriated by New York and $50,000 by New Jersey for the preservation of the Palisades.

Through the efforts of the Society the city of New York has decided to preserve Fraunce's Tavern, and make a public park of the land surrounding it. The ordinance was passed February 17, 1903.

The Toledo Architectural Club.
The National Society of Mural Painters.
The National Sculpture Society.

The purposes of the League are: The promotion of American architecture and the allied fine arts, and the incorporation of all eligible associations into active membership by representation in the League. The League consists of active and allied members.

The League holds circuit exhibitions, which at first consisted of selections from the exhibitions of the interested clubs. There have also been collections of foreign exhibits. Last year it was decided to limit the exhibits to photographs, particularly of recent work connected with church building and decoration. Six hundred pictures were secured, including a European collection. The exhibition was opened at the Architectural League of New York, and will close in St. Louis at the time of the fifth annual convention, which will be held in that city October 5 and 6, 1903.

COUNCIL OF SUPERVISORS OF THE MANUAL ARTS.

500 Park Ave., New York.

Meetings are held the second Friday in December at a city appointed by the Executive Committee. The last meeting was held in New York; the next, December, 1903, will be in Boston, Mass.

The Council is composed of supervising teachers of the manual arts in elementary and high schools in cities and towns. The associate membership is limited to 100 and from this number the active members, limited to forty, are elected.

The chief function of the Council is to advance the professional spirit in supervision and the critical discussion of questions concerning the advancement of the manual arts of drawing, design and constructive work in the public schools. Papers are prepared by the members and printed in the year book in advance of the meeting at which they are to be discussed.

THOMAS E. KIRBY,
Secretary,
6 East 23d St., New York.

A corporation formed in 1903 for the purpose of holding exhibitions of works of art at stated periods in the interest of art education or for the benefit of deserving charities.

The exhibitions will cover every field of art and will comprise objects lent by the prominent collectors of the world, the Association's charter enabling it under the existing custom house laws to bring from foreign countries art objects and antiquities "for exhibition and not for sale," under bond. The Association will assume all expenses incurred and provide for insurance. The Association will ultimately possess its own art galleries, erecting a building which will have not only ample exhibition space but facilities for art lectures. With the lectures, as with the exhibitions, the aim is to be the advancement of art and art education, without cognizance of art's commercial side.

Governors of the States and Territories are ex-officio members of the Board of Trustees.

An effort is being made to raise the sum of $1,000,000 to purchase a site and erect thereon a National Art Museum in Chicago, which shall be devoted exclusively to the interests of American art in all its departments. The work of promoting the National Art Museum is entirely in the hands of the National Society of Associated Arts, the Board of Trustees being only charged with the care of the funds until such time as disbursements for site and building shall be necessary. The title to land purchased and buildings erected shall be vested in the National Society of Associated Arts. It is suggested that auxiliary societies be formed in every State in order to provide a gallery in the National Art Museum for each State and Territory.

NATIONAL LEAGUE OF MINERAL PAINTERS.

IDA A. JOHNSON,
President,
193 St. James Place, Brooklyn.

MARY CHASE PERRY,
Chairman Education Committee.

The League was formed through the efforts to establish local clubs to prepare exhibits for the Columbian Exposition. Its object is to broaden the knowledge of keramic workers, and establish a unity of purpose among them by correspondence and yearly exhibitions.

In 1901 the League established a medal competition, the gold medal being awarded to the successful designer.

The following year a comparative and competitive exhibition was planned. It consisted of about 100 pieces of decorative work upon fixed shapes, and was sent from club to club throughout the country, traveling for ten months.

In 1903 the work was carried along on the same lines, the exhibit being in two parts, one educational and competitive, and the other purely comparative. The work was exhibited in New York in May, and is now traveling.

The League will exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF ASSOCIATED ARTS (Incorporated).

GEORGE ERNEST COLBY,
President.
FRANK L. VAN NESS,
Treasurer.

MARIAN A. WHITE,
Secretary-General,
1115 Pratt Ave., Chicago, Ill.

There are twenty-one vice-presidents, representing that number of departments in art, and twenty-three vice-presidents at large.

The organization admits to membership artists working in the following mediums: Oil, water color and pastel; miniatures; sculpture and architecture; etching and engraving; ceramics; mural decoration; illustration and designing of book covers; designing of art glass and mosaics; designing for metal, wood and leather; photography; pyrography; scenic designing; lithography and poster designing, and artistic bookbinding.

There is an entrance fee of $2 for artists and yearly dues of $3; affiliated members, $3; associate members, $5; honorary members, $10, and life members, $50.

An exhibition was held in Chicago in March, 1903. A permanent sales department will ultimately be established for the benefit of the artist members.

An important branch of the work undertaken is the securing of funds for a National Art Museum to be erected in Chicago. The chairman of this committee is J. Harrison White, 303 Record-Herald Building, Chicago, Ill.

DIRECTORIES.

In April data blanks were sent to the members of the leading art societies and exhibitors at same throughout the United States. The Directories have been compiled from the cards returned and the information secured for previous volumes of the "American Art Annual."

Unless an artist has exhibited during the past three years, is a member of an important art society, or has communicated with the Editor, the name has been dropped from previous lists. It is therefore of great importance that every artist should FILL OUT AND RETURN THE DATA CARDS EVERY SPRING. As these Directories are a regular feature of the "American Art Annual," published in the autumn of each year, the Editor will be pleased to receive further information and to be NOTIFIED BEFORE SEPTEMBER 1 OF ANY CHANGE OF ADDRESS or error in the previous issue.

The Directory of Writers and Lecturers on Art is a department that has been added this year. Painters, Sculptors and Illustrators have been combined in one alphabetical list, but Sculptors are entered there only with addresses, a separate Directory having been made with biographical notes. This section has been enlarged by reference to the autograph letters in the Department of Ancient and Modern Sculpture at the Metropolitan Museum, New York, for which thanks are due to the Curator of the Department.

When two addresses are given and the second one is preceded by "h," it indicates that the first address is the studio, the second the home; the day of the week following the address is the "Reception Day." The date after the abbreviation of a society of which an artist is a member refers to the time of election. Biographical notes are confined to the following facts: Branch of work pursued; where and when born (in many cases the date of birth has been omitted by special request); pupil of —; honors received; membership in art societies.

In the names of women "Mrs." has been used where necessary, the husband's name being placed in parentheses; all others are "Miss." As far as possible the maiden names have been entered with a cross reference to the married name, and the biographical notes have been entered under the latter.

A list of the abbreviations used in the Directories will be found on the next page.
